U.S. Military Chiefs Gather On Formosa

Reds Guns Pound Quemoy; Naval Clash Reported

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Ranking U.S. commanders assembled in Taipei Monday in a new show of American concern about the offshore island war.

They converged on this Nationalist capital as Red Chinese shore batteries stepped up their pounding of Quemoy. At sea, Nationalist and Red warships clashed near the Matsus, a Nationalist island group 150 miles north of Quemoy.

On Taipei for the big U.S. military huddle were Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander in chief of U.S. Pacific forces; Vice Adm. Roland N. Smoot, U.S. Formosa defense commander; Vice Adm. Wallace M. Beakley, commander of the 7th Fleet, and Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Moorman, chief of the 13th U.S. Air Force, which has headquarters in the Philippines. Also arriving was Gen. Laurence S. Kutler, U.S. Air Force commander in the Pacific.

Felt, Chiang To Meet
Felt also arranged meetings with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, the Nationalist chief, and other Nationalist leaders.

Chiang is expected to reaffirm his determination to defend the offshore islands to the last and not to agree to any formula worked out at the U.S.-Red Chinese Warsaw conference that would in his view infringe upon the rights and interests of Nationalist China.

On the fighting fronts, action has been increasing over the last few days.

Nationalist defense headquarters said the Communists hurled 15,500 shells Sunday on blockaded Quemoy Island, just five miles from the mainland. The unusually heavy shelling—if it followed the pattern of recent weeks—indicated the Nationalists tried to push another supply convoy through the curtain of artillery fire around Quemoy. But if such was the case, the Nationalists did not say so.

New Supplies Landed
On each of the seven preceding days, the Nationalists reported success in landing supplies on Quemoy.

Near Matsus, Nationalist warships exchanged fire with six Communist gunboats, the Defense Ministry reported. The Nationalists claimed they sank one gunboat and heavily damaged a second without loss or damage to themselves.

Also, the ministry reported three civilians were killed and 16 wounded in a Red artillery barrage on Quemoy Friday. It added that 103 civilian homes were destroyed and 50 others damaged. No mention was made of any military casualties.

Crew And Ditched Plane Head For Port

NEW YORK (AP) — The 11-man crew of a ditched U. S. Navy plane headed for Bermuda Sunday aboard a Coast Guard cutter with their crippled craft in tow.

A Norwegian tanker plucked the crew from the Atlantic Ocean Saturday night, about 180 miles north of Bermuda, after the plane ditched with a disabled engine.

The plane was one of two on weather patrol. After the ditching, the accompanying plane circled overhead to guide rescuers.

The Norwegian tanker, the Bjorgund, took the Navy men aboard as two Coast Guard cutters and a Coast Guard plane sped to the rescue.

Later, the fliers were transferred to the cutter Rockaway. No one was hurt.

Flood, Small Tornado Hit Orange, Tex.

14 Inches Of Rain Falls In 9 Hours, Blocking Highways

ORANGE, Tex. (AP)—A cloud-burst dumped 14 inches of rain in 9 hours on this southeastern Texas city Sunday, flooded 200 homes and blocked highways.

National Guardsmen were evacuating an estimated 150 persons. A twister unroofed one house and damaged another but injured none.

The Red Cross estimated that water rose up to 18 inches in the homes and reached 3 feet in a few business houses.

The sun broke through at noon (CST) and the worst appeared over.

But water still ran 16 to 20 inches deep over U.S. 90, about 4 miles west of Orange. Only high-wheeled trucks could negotiate inundated stretches.

Damage Extensive

Editor J. Cullen Browning of the Orange Leader said large areas of the city and its suburban communities remained flooded Sunday afternoon.

City Manager Marlin Thompson said he couldn't estimate the damage but that it would be heavy in this industrial city of 38,000.

Most of the rain fell after midnight. An Orange National Guard unit was bringing families out of the flooded area in high-wheeled trucks and by boat. The Red Cross was caring for them in the courthouse.

The twister dipped down in a sparsely settled area in West Orange. It unroofed a house, smashed outbuildings and traveled across a field before rising.

Previous Record 9 Inches
Weather Bureau records show the previous record rain at Orange was 9 inches in 1944.

About 90 homes were flooded up to five feet in one section of Beaumont, a city of 112,000 which is 28 miles west of Orange. Water was still rising over a canal dike. A deluge of 12 inches hit that area Saturday night. Heavy rains tapered off there late in the morning.

The Weather Bureau warned residents of low-lying areas along the Neches River, which runs through Beaumont, to prepare for high water but the city itself wasn't threatened.

Bus-Car Crash Kills 2; 40 Hurt

BORDENTOWN, N.J. (UPI)—A bus loaded with Spanish Methodists singing the hymn "I Have a Joy" careened off the rain-slicked New Jersey Turnpike Sunday in a head-on collision with an automobile that swerved out of control. Two motorists were killed and 40 bus passengers were injured.

The owners of the chartered bus, which was carrying the church group, most of them Puerto Ricans, from Philadelphia to New York, said the automobile suddenly veered across the Turnpike dividing line and smashed into the bus, knocking it off the highway and tossing the passengers violently.

The dead motorists were tentatively identified as Leland J. Brittingham, 45, and his wife, Mary Elizabeth, of Showell, Md. Their car was ripped to pieces.

Beirut Curfew Imposed Amid Rising Tension

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—The Lebanese government ordered an indefinite round-the-clock curfew imposed on Beirut Sunday night amid mounting tension and fear of new fighting two days before Maj. Gen. Fuad Chehab takes over as president.

All leaves and liberties for American forces in Lebanon were cancelled for four days in a precautionary move, U. S. military traffic in Beirut will be kept to a strict minimum.

The curfew was ordered to begin at 8 p.m. after the pro-government para-military Christian Phalange suddenly called a 24-hour strike for Monday to protest the kidnapping Friday of newspaperman Fuad Haddad.

The Phalange radio called on its supporters to ignore the curfew. Any such disobedience is almost certainly to bring trouble to this divided city already profoundly disturbed by the Haddad kidnapping.

The curfew was officially termed a "security measure" accompanying Chehab's takeover from pro-Western President Camille Chamoun.

But the curfew originally had not been scheduled to start before Monday. Chamoun's six-year term expires Tuesday.

Tension has mounted steadily in Beirut since two armed men pulled Haddad, an outspoken critic of the rebels and U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser, from his car and dragged him into the rebel Basta sector of Beirut.

Rebel leaders have denied any responsibility for the kidnapping. But both the Phalange and the rebels have carried out hundreds of "reprisal" kidnappings.

Khrushchev Proclaims Radical School Reform

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev has proclaimed a drastic new "work while you study" overhaul of the Soviet school system.

The reform is aimed at adding millions of boys and girls of high school age—from 14 to 17—to the manual labor force on farms and in factories.

The official press announced Sunday that the Presidium of the Central Committee has approved Khrushchev's memorandum proposing this radical change. The scheme will be put into effect over the next three or four years.

It will be presented for formal adoption to the full membership of the Central Committee and the Supreme Soviet—or Parliament—in the next few months. Their endorsement is a foregone conclusion.

TV Classes For Little Rock High Schoolers Start Today

By The Associated Press

High school students in Little Rock, Ark., begin a full week of classes via television Monday while their parents debate how they will vote in a special referendum on whether schools should be integrated.

The Little Rock School Board is going ahead with a makeshift program of education by television after a trial run Saturday. The three commercial stations are donating two hours each day to the program.

In Virginia, six schools in the Norfolk area moved nearer the position of having their doors locked by Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., as he has already done to three schools in other sections.

A group of 61 Little Rock lawyers are advertising in Monday morning papers that they believe public schools cannot be legally operated as private, segregated institutions.

A student leader at Hall High—one of four closed because of court-ordered integration at Little Rock—said a telephone poll revealed that more than 500 students want the schools opened with or without integration.

Federal authorities, meanwhile, appeared to be taking a wait-and-see attitude toward the explosive situation. A government spokesman commented in Washington that "we are under no pressures in this connection...Local school closures have aroused parents who want to see their children in school."

Gov. Orval E. Faubus has called a special referendum for next Saturday to permit voters of the Little Rock school district to ballot on whether they want integrated schools.

The segregationist Mothers League of Central High School at Little Rock is circulating petitions during the weekend aimed at removing four members of the city school board. Mrs. Margaret Jackson, league president, said many people feel the four "are not doing the will of the majority of the people."

The six Norfolk schools appear headed for closure under Virginia's law to close schools automatically where integration is ordered.

The school board there has appealed to Chief Justice Simon E. Sobeloff of the U. S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals to stay an integration order at the schools. He has turned down two similar requests.

U.S. Demands Soviet Explain Fliers' Fate
MOSCOW (AP) — The United States renewed Sunday its demand for information from the Kremlin on the fate of 11 crewmen missing from a U.S. Air Force transport which crashed in Soviet Armenia Sept. 2.

The Russians said Friday they did not know what happened to the 11, but that they will return six bodies found in the wreckage of the C130. The plane was on a flight in Turkey when it disappeared.

The new American demand was made in a note which cited anguish caused among families of the missing fliers. The Soviet government was asked to expedite the return of the dead crewmen along with their tags and personal documents to permit American officials to make positive identifications. It was asked to indicate where and when U.S. authorities could take possession of the remains.

Milwaukee Braves Win NL Pennant

[By The Associated Press]

Milwaukee clinched the National League pennant Sunday and moved into an Oct. 1 rematch with the New York Yankees in the World Series.

The Braves defeated Cincinnati 6-5 while the second game Pittsburgh Pirates were rained out of a doubleheader at Philadelphia. Milwaukee now leads the Pirates by 5½ games. The Braves have four more games to play and the Pirates five.

Milwaukee assured itself of at least a tie by winning Saturday's game from Cincinnati 5-1.

The World Series opens Wednesday, Oct. 1 in Milwaukee. They will continue the best-of-seven series at Milwaukee Thursday, Oct. 2. After a day off for travel, Oct. 3, the series will be resumed at Yankee Stadium, Saturday, Oct. 4.

Despite last year's seven-game victory by the Braves, the Yankees already have been installed as 7 to 5 favorites.

GOP Advises Campaigners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican strategists, mapping an uphill battle for control of Congress, said Sunday a GOP Congress "will end the bickering, delay, obstruction and reckless spending" of the Democrats.

In a 100-page, pocket-size handbook for Republican campaign speakers prepared by their National Committee, the Republicans challenged the Democrats on a host of issues. They advised GOP candidates not to let Democrats "sell America short."

"Our record is good," said a foreword to the campaign document, similar to one put out by the Democrats several days ago. "Tell the story forcefully. Refute wild Democrat charges and distortions with solid facts."

The handbook paints a glowing picture of the nearly six years under President Eisenhower and says: "It is a record of peace, security and sound economic and social progress which has made America stronger and better."

A chapter on why a Republican Congress is needed says better cooperation between the President and Congress is a must if government is to function efficiently.

Stabbed Negro Leader Still On Critical List

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., stabbed Saturday by a Negro woman in Harlem, remained on a hospital critical list Sunday. He was described as resting as comfortably as possible.

Meanwhile, the woman who attacked King, Negro leader who stresses nonviolence in racial issues, was committed to Bellevue Hospital for mental observation.

Mrs. Isola Ware Curry, 42, who plunged a seven-inch steel letter opener into King's chest as he autographed copies of his recently published book in a Harlem department store, stood defiantly before Magistrate Vincent P. Rao, who remarked, "This woman is ill."

"I'm not ill," Mrs. Curry said. "I understand this is the woman who is accused of stabbing the Rev. Mr. King with a knife," said Rao.

"No, it was a letter opener," shouted the defendant.

King, 29, underwent 4-hour, 20-minute surgery Saturday night. His wife arrived in New York by plane Sunday morning from Montgomery, Ala., and rushed to his bedside. Commenting on Mrs. Curry, Mrs. King said, "She no doubt is not completely responsible for her actions."

Mrs. Curry, charged with felonious assault and violation of the Sullivan (antiweapons) law — a loaded pistol was found in the bosom of her dress—was asked by a newsman, "When did you first decide to kill Mr. King?"

She snapped, "Who said I wanted to kill him?"

Police said Mrs. Curry told them she did not know King was scheduled to be in the store. But she was quoted by a bystander after the stabbing as saying, "I've been after him for six years. I'm glad I done it."

Sunday, Mrs. Curry interrupted arraignment proceedings by declaring, "I'm charging him—King—as well as he's charging me."

"What have you got against him?" asked the magistrate.

"I'm charging him with being mixed up with the Communists," Mrs. Curry said. "I've reported the case to the FBI and it's being looked into." She did not elaborate.

Raftsmen Says 2,100-Mile Trip Proves How World's Early People Migrated

HONOLULU (AP)—Four bearded men and a flea-bitten dog Saturday night ended 69 days of drifting 2,100 miles on a raft from California to Hawaii. They were down to four cans of spinach and tomatoes, but were convinced they had proved something.

That something, said the Mormon skipper, Devere Baker, is how the world's population migrated and interbred thousands of years ago.

For four years, Baker, 42, has been the laughing stock of the Coast Guard while he tried to substantiate the Book of Mormon. It relates that the Mormon prophet Lehi used the drifting method to get the lost tribes of Israel from the Red Sea to Central America in 600 B.C. Three previous times Baker has had to be ignominiously rescued because his rafts Lehi I,

II and III couldn't even break free so low that he lost 45 pounds.

"You know he was two weeks overdue," she said.

The nine-ton timbered raft had been released in the current off Long Beach, Calif., July 14. For a time, it drifted off the Guadalupe Islands. Then it caught the tradewinds and went smoothly.

Twice the men saw ships far off. Although they carried a two-way radio, they didn't break silence. Baker's hurt pride from previous failures governed that. He wanted to prove he could make it without consulting anyone.

Baker, builder of all four box-shaped Lehis, said: "It is my personal observation it is impossible to go anywhere but to these islands in the Pacific. You get in the tradewinds and they'll just carry you along."

At Redondo Beach, Calif., Baker's wife said, after talking to him through a ham radio hookup, her husband reported the rations got so low that he lost 45 pounds.

"You know he was two weeks overdue," she said.

Tass Charges U.S. Unwilling To Hear Truth

Eisenhower Sends Back Unacceptable Khrushchev Letter

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government said Monday President Eisenhower's rejection of Premier Khrushchev's latest Far East crisis letter shows a lack of U.S. desire "to listen to the voice of reason."

The American Embassy here fired back the Khrushchev letter to Eisenhower as unacceptable because of its strong terms.

The Soviet statement was made through the official news agency Tass.

Tass reported the rejection and accused the United States of failing to embark on the path of "peaceful solutions of unsolved international problems."

The statement declared it was a new example of how little American circles "consider popular demand for putting an end to the policy of saber rattling which is carrying the world to the brink of war."

Messenger Returns Letter

Khrushchev sent his letter to Eisenhower Friday, demanding the United States withdraw its forces from the Formosa area or face their being driven out by Red China.

Eisenhower ordered the letter returned Saturday.

Pravda on Sunday morning reported the Khrushchev letter but not Eisenhower's rejection.

U.S. Charge d'Affaires Richard Davis sent the letter back to Khrushchev by messenger, first at 6:30 a.m. Sunday, but the Soviet Foreign Office was closed. The messenger returned at 8 a.m. Sunday and delivered it to the reception office.

Tass, discussing the rejection, said Khrushchev's letter — which also called for U.S. recognition of Red China — was "dictated by his serious concern over the dangers to peace resulting from Far East tension caused by the aggressive acts of American ruling circles in the Taiwan (Formosa) Strait area."

No Contact By Officials

Tass added: "The Soviet Union will continue its active struggle for preservation of peace and continue to tell the truth whether or not it is liked by those whose policy is consistently based on creating serious international conflicts in one area or another of the world."

In the act of returning the Khrushchev letter Sunday, there was no contact between U. S. and Soviet officials nor any new discussion in connection with the letter.

Diplomats commenting on the letter and its rejection said shortened and sharp tempers in both camps over the Formosa Strait crisis threaten to plunge U.S.-Soviet relations to a new low.

Said an Asian diplomat: "When people are angry they sometimes are led to say and do things which they wouldn't under normal circumstances."

UAW, Chrysler, GM Talks Set

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators for General Motors, Chrysler and the United Auto Workers were busy with homework Sunday in preparation for resumption of contract talks Monday.

GM and Chrysler followed the example of Ford by offering the UAW a three-year contract Saturday.

The GM-Chrysler offers were almost duplicates of the Ford offer which led to settlement of a seven-hour strike affecting 98,000 Ford workers on Wednesday.

UAW President Walter Reuther has said he would not accept a carbon copy of the Ford contract from GM and Chrysler. He insisted GM and Chrysler had some local work conditions in their nationwide plants which required correction before any contracts could be agreed upon.

The UAW has set an 11 a.m., Sept. 30 strike deadline at GM if no contract is signed and Reuther has been given authority by his union to call a strike at Chrysler at any date he desires if an agreement is not reached there.

Reuther, who took personal command of the UAW negotiations with Chrysler Saturday, told newsmen he still was confident an agreement could be worked out with Chrysler by Monday night if the company would settle down to serious bargaining. He said the situation at GM is more complex since it has four times as many plants and nearly four times as many workers as Chrysler.

The Braves defeated Cincinnati 6-5 while the second place Pittsburgh Pirates were rained out of a doubleheader at Philadelphia. Milwaukee now leads the Pirates by 5½ games. The Braves have four more games to play and the Pirates five.

Milwaukee assured itself of at least a tie by winning Saturday's game from Cincinnati 5-1.

The World Series opens Wednesday, Oct. 1 in Milwaukee. They will continue the best-of-seven series at Milwaukee Thursday, Oct. 2. After a day off for travel, Oct. 3, the series will be resumed at Yankee Stadium, Saturday, Oct. 4.

Despite last year's seven-game victory by the Braves, the Yankees already have been installed as 7 to 5 favorites.

GOP Advises Campaigners

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican strategists, mapping an uphill battle for control of Congress, said Sunday a GOP Congress "will end the bickering, delay, obstruction, and reckless spending" of the Democrats.

In a 100-page, pocket-size handbook for Republican campaign speakers prepared by their National Committee, the Republicans challenged the Democrats on a host of issues. They advised GOP candidates not to let Democrats "sell America short."

"Our record is good," said a foreword to the campaign document, similar to one put out by the Democrats several days ago. "Tell the story forcefully. Refute wild Democrat charges and distortions with solid facts."

The handbook paints a glowing picture of the nearly six years under President Eisenhower and says: "It is a record of peace, security and sound economic and social progress which has made America stronger and better."

A chapter on why a Republican Congress is needed says better cooperation between the President and Congress is a must if government is to function efficiently.

Stabbed Negro Leader Still On Critical List

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., stabbed Saturday by a Negro woman in Harlem, remained on a hospital critical list Sunday. He was described as resting as comfortably as possible.

Meanwhile, the woman who attacked King, Negro leader who stresses nonviolence in racial issues, was committed to Bellevue Hospital for mental observation.

Mrs. Isola Ware Curry, 42, who plunged a seven-inch steel letter opener into King's chest as he autographed copies of his recently published book in a Harlem department store, stood defiantly before Magistrate Vincent P. Rao, who remarked, "This woman is ill."

"I'm not ill," Mrs. Curry said. "I understand this is the woman who is accused of stabbing the Rev. Mr. King with a knife," said Rao.

"No, it was a letter opener," shouted the defendant.

King, 29, underwent 4-hour, 20-minute surgery Saturday night. His wife arrived in New York by plane Sunday morning from Montgomery, Ala., and rushed to his bedside. Commenting on Mrs. Curry, Mrs. King said, "She no doubt is not completely responsible for her actions."

Mrs. Curry, charged with felonious assault and violation of the Sullivan (antiweapons) law—a loaded pistol was found in the bosom of her dress—was asked by a newsman, "When did you first decide to kill Mr. King?"

She snapped: "Who said I wanted to kill him?"

Police said Mrs. Curry told them she did not know King was scheduled to be in the store. But she was quoted by a bystander after the stabbing as saying, "I've been after him for six years. I'm glad I did it."

Sunday, Mrs. Curry interrupted arraignment proceedings by declaring, "I'm charging him—King—as well as he's charging me."

"What have you got against him?" asked the magistrate.

"I'm charging him with being mixed up with the Communists," Mrs. Curry said. "I've reported the case to the FBI and it's being looked into." She did not elaborate.

Tass Charges U.S. Unwilling To Hear Truth

Eisenhower Sends Back Unacceptable Khrushchev Letter

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government said Monday President Eisenhower's rejection of Premier Khrushchev's latest Far East crisis letter shows a lack of U.S. desire "to listen to the voice of reason."

The American Embassy here fired back the Khrushchev letter to Eisenhower as unacceptable because of its strong terms.

The Soviet statement was made through the official news agency Tass.

Tass reported the rejection and accused the United States of failing to embark on the path of "peaceful solutions of unsolved international problems."

The statement declared it was a new example of how little American circles "consider popular demand for putting an end to the policy of saber rattling which is carrying the world to the brink of war."

Messenger Returns Letter

Khrushchev sent his letter to Eisenhower Friday, demanding the United States withdraw its forces from the Formosa area or face their being driven out by Red China.

Eisenhower ordered the letter returned Saturday.

Pravda on Sunday morning reported the Khrushchev letter but not Eisenhower's rejection.

U.S. Charge d'Affaires Richard Davis sent the letter back to Khrushchev by messenger, first at 6:30 a.m. Sunday, but the Soviet Foreign Office was closed. The messenger returned at 8 a.m. Sunday and delivered it to the reception office.

Tass, discussing the rejection, said Khrushchev's letter—which also called for U.S. recognition of Red China—was "dictated by his serious concern over the dangers to peace resulting from Far East tension caused by the aggressive acts of American ruling circles in the Taiwan (Formosa) Strait area."

No Contact By Officials

Tass added: "The Soviet Union will continue its active struggle for preservation of peace and continue to tell the truth whether or not it is liked by those whose policy is consistently based on creating serious international conflicts in one area or another of the world."

In the act of returning the Khrushchev letter Sunday, there was no contact between U.S. and Soviet officials nor any new discussion in connection with the letter.

Diplomats commenting on the letter and its rejection said shortened and sharp tempers in both camps over the Formosa Strait crisis threaten to plunge U.S.-Soviet relations to a new low.

Said an Asian diplomat: "When people are angry they sometimes are led to say and do things which they wouldn't under normal circumstances."

UAW, Chrysler, GM Talks Set

DETROIT (AP)—Negotiators for General Motors, Chrysler and the United Auto Workers were busy with homework Sunday in preparation for resumption of contract talks Monday.

GM and Chrysler followed the example of Ford by offering the UAW a three-year contract Saturday.

The GM-Chrysler offers were almost duplicates of the Ford offer which led to settlement of a seven-hour strike affecting 98,000 Ford workers on Wednesday.

UAW President Walter Reuther has said he would not accept a carbon copy of the Ford contract from GM and Chrysler. He insisted GM and Chrysler had some local work conditions in their nationwide plants which required correction before any contracts could be agreed upon.

The UAW has set an 11 a.m., Sept. 30 strike deadline at GM if no contract is signed and Reuther has been given authority by his union to call a strike at Chrysler at any date he desires if an agreement is not reached there.

Reuther, who took personal command of the UAW negotiations with Chrysler Saturday, told newsmen he still was confident an agreement could be worked out with Chrysler by Monday night if the company would settle down to serious bargaining. He said the situation at GM is more complex since it has four times as many plants and nearly four times as many workers as Chrysler.

Adenauer Hopeful Despite Tensions

KIEL, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Sunday he is optimistic about the international situation, despite tensions spots around the world.

"There will be no war provided the West remains strong and has patience and perseverance," Adenauer told a political rally.

The West German leader spoke of his talks with Premier de Gaulle of France last Sunday. He said they are agreed that Europe can have significance among world powers only if it sticks together and unifies itself politically and economically.

Adenauer spoke before a Christian Democratic party rally.

Uncle Sam, Running Out Of Cash, Must Get Loan

Fiscal Transfusion Will Be Arranged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam is running out of cash and the Treasury's money managers must decide this week how to arrange for a fiscal transfusion.

The latest figures show the Treasury has a cash balance of just under three billion dollars—not even enough to pay the government's bills for the next two weeks.

Making matters worse, revenue isn't coming in as fast as a year ago because of the recession. And spending is up sharply.

The Treasury is expected to announce Thursday its plans for borrowing more cash. Reportedly it is thinking of borrowing three or four billion dollars. It may ask for more.

Between now and Thursday afternoon, Secretary Robert B. Anderson and his top advisers will wrestle with about as delicate and thorny a problem as any they ever have to deal with.

First of all, they must decide how much new cash to borrow. They want to borrow enough so they don't have to make a quick return trip to the money market. But they don't want to borrow too much because interest charges are costly and already account for

Mystery Blast Wrecks Home, Injures Three

BELTSVILLE, Md. (AP)—Three persons were injured Saturday night in an unexplained blast which wrecked the home of Peter Nyberg in Beltsville. Two of those hurt had tried to enter the burning structure after being told mistakenly that a child was in the house.

Officials of the Branchville Volunteer Fire Department said the explosion was followed by a fire which completed the destruction of the one story frame bungalow and prompted three alarms.

All of the injured were treated at Leland Memorial Hospital in Riverdale, where Nyberg has been a patient since Tuesday.

The injured, none of them believed seriously hurt, were identified at the hospital as: Richard Melton, 23, chief engineer of the Branchville Fire Department, who suffered a hand cut; John C. Manley, who suffered a gashed left leg, and Robert Donaldson, 15, of Hyattsville, who suffered flash burns on his face and neck.

Wilfred Hansen, 36, said he was about to drive a party of teenagers home across the street from the Nybergs when the youngsters smelled smoke.

Firemen valued the house at $15,000.

Khrushchev Denounces De Gaulle's Constitution

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev urged rejection of the proposed French constitution Sunday in his first attack on Gen. Charles de Gaulle since the general assumed power in France on June 1.

Khrushchev said in an interview that the French constitution aims at establishing a dictatorship "of reprisal and terror" and revives memories of Nazi Germany in 1933.

He said that any hopes that the

Sand-Gravel Strike Slated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Workers in four nearby sand and gravel plants have called a strike for Monday to enforce their wage increase demands.

The threatened walkout would quickly affect the area's major construction projects in the concrete pouring stage.

John R. Holden, executive secretary of the Washington Building and Construction Trades Council, said that without sand and gravel from the four suppliers in Prince Georges County, work would stop within a week on such projects as the new House Office Building and a State Department building.

The four companies are Arundel Supply Co., Buffalo Sand and Gravel, Silver Hill Sand and Gravel and Campbell Sand Co. They employ about 250 men.

The area's largest supplier, Smoot Sand and Gravel Co., has been closed by a strike since June.

Sam Bevard, owner of Silver Hill Sand and Gravel, said negotiations with representatives of the Operating Engineers and Teamsters Unions broke down Friday.

J. C. Turner, business manager of Local 77, operating engineers, said the men in the industry have not had a raise in two years. He said the unions offered to settle for a 15-cent hourly increase for mechanics and 10 cents an hour for all other employees. He said the companies offered a three-year contract with hourly increases of five cents each year.

Three Traffic Deaths Boost Md. Toll To 351

(By The Associated Press)

Two Baltimoreans died in traffic accidents Sunday and a service station attendant was killed and nine persons injured in another auto accident Saturday.

The three weekend deaths raised Maryland's 1958 highway death toll to 351 compared with 391 at this time a year ago.

Harry Fitz, 27, of Baltimore, was fatally injured when his car collided with a parked truck while traveling east on Pratt Street in Baltimore. He was dead on arrival at University Hospital.

Victor Grey, 54, of Baltimore, was dead on arrival at City Hospital after his car apparently struck a pole near a railroad overpass on North Point road in Baltimore.

The service station attendant, 20-year-old George Charles Floros of Baltimore, was crushed between a parked car and the gas pumps at an Elkridge service station on U. S. 1 about five miles southwest of Baltimore.

Floros was giving directions to Mrs. Carol Ann Buettner, 21, of Baltimore, who had become lost trying to reach Carney. There were five others in her car, including her 2-year-old son, Thomas, and a dog.

A car driven by the Rev. John Dean, 58, of Baltimore apparently went out of control and ripped between Mrs. Buettner's car and the pumps.

A second car driven by Sgt. Grover Manzel, 33, of Ft. Meade struck the Buettner car and careened into an empty car parked on the service station lot.

Floros was killed immediately. All the occupants of Mrs. Buettner's car, including her son, two other women and two other young children, were taken to St. Agnes Hospital, Baltimore, and later released.

It is the custom for the President to take the oath of office in Washington, but there is no provision of law to that effect.

French Premier Pushes Constitutional Proposals

Nation Jittery As Violence Flares

PARIS (AP)—New reports of violence sputtered from widely separated points in France Sunday as this nervous nation moved toward a historic vote.

Nevertheless, Premier Charles de Gaulle appeared calm and sounded optimistic as he stumped east and north France calling for a resounding "yes" in next Sunday's constitutional referendum.

The most serious incident occurred at Agen, in southwestern France, where French paratroopers, joined by civilians, sacked Communist party headquarters. The Communist party is the only important political grouping which has organized a strong campaign for rejection of De Gaulle's constitutional proposals for a stable executive.

Paratroopers played a leading role in setting the stage for De Gaulle's rise to power June 1. The Communists have aimed their sharpest barbs at the "paras," accusing them of Fascist orientation.

Toward midnight Saturday, paratroop grenades were tossed against the Agen Communist headquarters. The door was broken down. All rooms in the three-story building were sacked. Documents and a wall safe were tossed out the windows. Three Communists inside the building escaped over neighboring roofs.

About the same time, two crude bombs exploded, one in the home of a militant Communist and another under a parked car. At about the same moment in Paris' Latin quarter, 50 young men swinging clubs moved through the streets banging cars, manhandling passersby and shouting, "Down with De Gaulle!"

Police intervened and arrested nine of the demonstrators. Central police headquarters said today the demonstrators "were not students" which, translated, meant they were probably Communists.

Westernport Plans Annual Cleanup Week

New Water Rates Given Approval

WESTERNPORT — September 22 to October 4, inclusive, has been designated as "Clean-Up Week" by Mayor Ray L. Wilt and the town council.

Action was taken by council following the recommendation of William Mayles, chief of Potomac Fire Company, and Clyde Michael, a member of the unit. They called attention to vacant lots where weeds have grown and caused unhealthy and hazardous conditions.

Council announced that "Fire Prevention Week" will be observed October 5-12.

A fire plug at the corner of Poplar and Johnson Streets, and one at the corner of Rock and Spruce Streets are either broken or threads are stripped, the firemen reported; also another plug at Johnson and Spruce Streets could not be opened.

Inspection Under Way

Members of the fire company are inspecting all fire hydrants in the town, doing a section at a time. Mayor Wilt told them he would have the street superintendent examine the plugs and have repairs done when necessary.

Firemen requested that money left over on the town's budget for the fire company be used to help purchase a tank truck with a pumper. The company would help defray expenses. Representatives of the fire unit were advised that the account would be investigated as to how much money might be available.

Michael also stated that chances looked favorable for getting another doctor for the Tri-Towns, providing housing could be secured. John Coleman, resident engineer for the installation of the filtration plant being built for the Upper Potomac River Commission, conferred with the "Town Fathers." Mayor Wilt informed him that they had received numerous complaints about dust on Maryland Avenue, caused by trucks working on the project.

Catch Basins Broken

The mayor stated also that two catch basins were broken on Fourth Street, apparently by trucks.

Coleman said he had not been able to find out who broke them. He also told council he would be glad to meet with them at any time to discuss problems as they arise.

James Randalls reported he had renewed his water line on Smoot Street, and wanted to know if the town was going to renew its line. He did not want to leave the pavement open where children might be injured, he said. The matter was referred to Alvin Pence, water commissioner.

Ordinance Passed

The mayor reported that James A. Welsh had requested the town to move its crossing on Railroad Street, near Washington Street, which the town uses enroute to its garage. Welsh recently purchased a parcel of land in that area from the C. W. Greitzner estate and states that the crossing is on his land. The matter is being referred to Horace P. Whitworth Sr., town attorney.

The second and final reading of Ordinance 17, revising municipal water rates and lowering the fee for those using large amounts of water, was read. The new schedule now in effect follows: 50 cents per 1,000 for the first 15,000 gallons; next 25,000 gallons 45 cents per 1,000; next 60,000 gallons, 30 cents per 1,000 and the next 200,000 gallons 20 cents per 1,000.

At the present time only three large consumers are affected by the lower rate.

Council ordered that $5,137.50 be paid on the bonds as follows: Citizens National Bank, $3,506.25, bond interest account; $1,500 bond service account and $131.25 to bond redemption account. This is for payment on money borrowed for the construction of the town's filtration plant. It was ordered that $1,000 be transferred from the town account to the water account.

First Aid Course To Open At PSC

KEYSER—John Fox, member of the faculty at Potomac State College, will offer a course in standard first aid at the college, to interested persons in the area. The class will meet Tuesday evenings at 6:30 DST, in the college gymnasium. The course will continue for ten sessions and a Red Cross card will be presented to those completing the instructional test. There will not be any registration fee and classes will begin tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. DST.

Note Bus Schedule

KEYSER — Osgood Bus Lines announced that their buses will operate on Eastern Daylight Time from Cumberland, Keyser, Piedmont and Westernport, until October 26. Buses from Oakland to Morgantown will operate on Eastern Standard Time.

Fifth was Eleanor, a grade Ayrshire owned by Elmer Miller that produced a total of 1840 pounds of milk and 87 pounds of fat.

W. Va. Miners End Walk-Out

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI)—Striking members of the United Mine Workers District 31 were scheduled to return to work at midnight Sunday, ending a walk-out which started Wednesday at a mine in Marion County.

The walkout started over a seniority dispute at Consolidation No. 9 mine of Mountaineer Coal Co. in Farmington and affected some 1,500 workers and commercial coal production in Marion, Monongalia and Harrison Counties. Some 1,000 miners voted to go back to work during a mass meeting at nearby Monongah Sunday.

Union officials plan to meet with coal operators Monday in an effort to settle the dispute which touched off the wildcat strike.

The dispute centered around seniority rights with respect to layoffs and re-employment. A union spokesman said workers want "full plant seniority" which means that furloughed miners with the longest service at a given mine would be the first rehired after a layoff.

Officers Named

This is what the newest and largest radio telescope now under construction in the United States will look like when it's erected in Green Bank, W. Va., as part of the National Radio Astronomy Observatory facilities there. The dish which points skyward is 140 feet in diameter, and is capable of picking up radio waves transmitted naturally by objects in space, even when their total strength is less than one watt spread over the surface of the entire earth. Associated Universities, Inc. which operates the Observatory has signed a contract with the E. W. Bliss Company of Canton, Ohio to build the telescope, which will rank as one of the largest precision research instruments in the world. This model will be part of an exhibit of the Radio Observatory at the Mountain State Forest Festival at Elkins, October 1, 2, 3 and 4.

Kiwanians Get Top Honor For Public Relations Idea

KEYSER—Kiwanis International has been selected to receive one of the top ten Public Relations News Annual Achievement awards for 1958. This honor has been described as the highest recognition in the public relations field.

Paul Iverson, president of the Keyser Kiwanis Club described the award as coming to Kiwanis primarily for "its competently guided public relations campaign through which Kiwanis annually enlists the support of its members throughout North America in honoring the press for the public service it performs in actively advancing the cause of freedom."

"This citation," he said, "refers to Kiwanis' cooperation each year in National Newspaper Week. This year Kiwanis clubs throughout the United States and Canada will cooperate with the daily and weekly press of both nations in the 20th annual observance of National Newspaper Week."

The top award for Kiwanis, Iverson said, came to the organization not only for the work of its clubs in National Newspaper Week, but for a variety of Public Relations efforts which have been undertaken on behalf of the communities in which Kiwanis Clubs serve.

In Keyser the cooperation of the local and area press has helped to bring about this recognition which, multiplied by 4,500 clubs, has resulted in the honor which Kiwanis now plays, Iverson added.

Eckhart PTA Okays Summer Swim Program

Plans To Host County Council

FROSTBURG — The first regular meeting of the Eckhart Elementary School PTA was held last week under the leadership of Francis Fatkin, president.

A discussion was held concerning the success of the summer swimming classes under the direction of Miss Maureen Manley and Robert Pence of the recreation department of the Allegany County Board of Education. Unanimous approval and thanks were given to Pence and Ralph Webster, superintendent of schools, for selecting Eckhart as a pilot school for the training course. The group hoped this instruction might be a goal set for each succeeding summer.

Mr. Fatkin announced that the PTA County Council has accepted the invitation of Eckhart School for their first fall meeting, October 6 at 8 p.m. It was pointed out that it had been six years since the council had met at the school.

Mrs. Avis Ward expressed the thanks of the unit to several members for the help they gave in making the summer library a success. They are Margaret Ryan, Helen Airhart, Sue Bowser and Wanda Thorne.

A variety show of professional talent is being planned for October 14. A county workshop will be held in Compton Hall of Frostburg State Teachers College for all unit presidents and committees on October 1.

Mrs. Delores Fatkin reported on the summer conference.

Mrs. Clara Mae Vogtman announced the forthcoming child study group meetings will begin Tuesday at 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. Shirley Schrug was installed as treasurer. The next meeting will be held October 21 at 7:30 p.m.

Westernport Plans Annual Cleanup Week

New Water Rates Given Approval

WESTERNPORT — September 29 to October 4, inclusive, has been designated as "Clean-Up Week" by Mayor Ray L. Wilt and the town council.

Action was taken by council following the recommendation of William Mayles, chief of Potomac Fire Company, and Clyde Michael, a member of the unit. They called attention to vacant lots where weeds have grown and caused unhealthy and hazardous conditions.

Council announced that "Fire Prevention Week" will be observed October 5-12.

A fire plug at the corner of Poplar and Johnson Streets, and one at the corner of Rock and Spruce Streets are either broken or threads are stripped, the firemen reported; also another plug at Johnson and Spruce Streets could not be opened.

Inspection Under Way

Members of the fire company are inspecting all fire hydrants in the town, doing a section at a time. Mayor Wilt told them he would have the street superintendent examine the plugs and have repairs done when necessary.

Firemen requested that money left over on the town's budget for the fire company be used to help purchase a tank truck with a pump. The company would help defray expenses. Representatives of the fire unit were advised that the account would be investigated as to how much money might be available.

Michael also stated that chances looked favorable for getting another doctor for the Tri-Towns, providing housing could be secured.

John Coleman, resident engineer for the installation of the filtration plant being built for the Upper Potomac River Commission, conferred with the "Town Fathers." Mayor Wilt informed him that they had received numerous complaints about dust on Maryland Avenue, caused by trucks working on the project.

Catch Basins Broken

The mayor stated also that two catch basins were broken on Fourth Street, apparently by trucks.

Coleman said he had not been able to find out who broke them. He also told council he would be glad to meet with them at any time to discuss problems as they arise.

James Randalls reported he had renewed his water line on Smoot Street, and wanted to know if the town was going to renew its line. He did not want to leave the pavement open where children might be injured, he said. The matter was referred to Alvin Pence, water commissioner.

Ordinance Passed

The mayor reported that James A. Welsh had requested the town to move its crossing on Railroad Street, near Washington Street, which the town uses enroute to its garage. Welsh recently purchased a parcel of land in that area from the C. W. Greitzner estate and states that the crossing is on his land. The matter is being referred to Horace P. Whitworth Sr., town attorney.

The second and final reading of Ordinance 17, revising municipal water rates and lowering the fee for those using large amounts of water, was read. The new schedule now in effect follows: 50 cents per 1,000 for the first 15,000 gallons; next 25,000 gallons 45 cents per 1,000; next 60,000 gallons, 30 cents per 1,000 and the next 200,000 gallons 20 cents per 1,000.

At the present time only three large consumers are affected by the lower rate.

Council ordered that $5,137.50 be paid on the bonds as follows: Citizens National Bank, $3,506.25; bond interest account, $1,500; bond service account and $131.25 to bond redemption account. This is for payment on money borrowed for the construction of the town's filtration plant. It was ordered that $1,000 be transferred from the town account to the water account.

First Aid Course To Open At PSC

KEYSER—John Fox, member of the faculty at Potomac State College, will offer a course in standard first aid at the college, to interested persons in the area. The class will meet Tuesday evenings at 6:30 DST, in the college gymnasium. The course will continue for ten sessions and a Red Cross card will be presented to those completing the instructional test. There will not be any registration fee and classes will begin tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. DST.

Note Bus Schedule

KEYSER—Osgood Bus Lines announced that their buses will operate on Eastern Daylight Time from Cumberland, Keyser, Piedmont and Westernport, until October 26. Buses from Oakland to Morgantown will operate on Eastern Standard Time.

W. Va. Miners End Walk-Out

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI)—Striking members of the United Mine Workers District 31 were scheduled to return to work at midnight Sunday, ending a walk-out which started Wednesday at a mine in Marion County.

The walkout started over a seniority dispute at Consolidation No. 9 mine of Mountaineer Coal Co. in Farmington and affected some 1,500 workers and commercial coal production in Marion, Monongalia and Harrison Counties. Some 1,000 miners voted to go back to work during a mass meeting at nearby Monongah Saturday.

Union officials plan to meet with coal operators Monday in an effort to settle the dispute which touched off the wildcat strike.

The dispute centered around seniority rights with respect to layoffs and re-employment. A union spokesman said workers want "full plant seniority" which means that furloughed miners with the longest service at a given mine would be the first rehired after a layoff.

W. Va. Miners End Walk-Out

James Randalls reported he had renewed his water line on Smoot Street, and wanted to know if the town was going to renew its line. He did not want to leave the pavement open where children might be injured, he said. The matter was referred to Alvin Pence, water commissioner.

This is what the newest and largest radio telescope now under construction in the United States will look like when it is erected in Green Bank, W. Va., as part of the National Radio Astronomy Observatory facilities there. The dish which points skyward is 140 feet in diameter, and is capable of picking up radio waves transmitted naturally by objects in space, even when their total strength is less than one watt spread over the surface of the entire earth. Associated Universities, Inc. which operates the Observatory has signed a contract with the E. W. Bliss Company of Canton, Ohio to build the telescope, which will rank as one of the largest precision research instruments in the world. This model will be part of an exhibit of the Radio Observatory at the Mountain State Forest Festival at Elkins, October 1, 2, 3 and 4.

Kiwanians Get Top Honor For Public Relations Idea

KEYSER—Kiwanis International has been selected to receive one of the top ten Public Relations News Annual Achievement awards for 1958. This honor has been described as the highest recognition in the public relations field.

Paul Iverson, president of the Keyser Kiwanis Club described the award as coming to Kiwanis primarily for "its completely guided public relations campaign through which Kiwanis annually enlists the support of its members throughout North America in honoring the press for the public service it performs in actively advancing the cause of freedom."

"This citation," he said, "refers to Kiwanis' cooperation each year in National Newspaper Week. This year Kiwanis clubs throughout the United States and Canada will cooperate with the daily and weekly press of both nations in the 20th annual observance of National Newspaper Week."

The top award for Kiwanis, Iverson said, came to the organization not only for the work of its clubs in National Newspaper Week, but for a variety of Public Relations efforts which have been undertaken on behalf of the communities in which Kiwanis Clubs serve.

In Keyser the cooperation of the local and area press has helped to bring about this recognition which, multiplied by 4,500 clubs, has resulted in the honor which Kiwanis now plays, Iverson added.

Why Reds Let Their Refugees Leave

West Germany is being invaded by a peaceful army of refugees who, having tasted the dubious delights of life in a Communist state, have had enough of it and are prepared to start from the bottom in a capitalist country they are accustomed to hearing reviled as a "slave state."

Since 1949, more than two million refugees have crossed the frontier from East Germany and they are still crossing at the rate of 5,000 a week, despite frontier controls.

The reasons for this exodus are complex. In the first years the refugees understandably included a big proportion of those who could not tolerate communism and rebelled against its machine-like monotony as well as those who suffered or feared political persecution.

Now East Germany is losing scientists, philosophers, scholars and technicians in great numbers. These are serious losses for any country. But it seems that the East German government is prepared to sustain it since the dissidents go and at the same time create problems for the West German government.

Houses and jobs have to be found for these refugees. Their continued arrival keeps unemployment figures in West Germany at a high level.

This movement of refugees is not peculiar to Germany. It goes on steadily between North and South Korea and North and South Viet Nam. It is significant that all these countries were once united but have been carved in two as a result of Communist expansion.

Communist states have nothing to learn about machine gun posts, police dogs, electrified barriers and frontier zones. It can only be assumed that they have weighed the losses with the gains and that these states are ready to lose the best in their communities providing they are left with the docile and obedient.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Day Of Atonement

The Book of Jonah is one of the documents in the Bible which has long puzzled scholars and even those who are not so scholarly. It seems to be a tale out of the "Arabian Nights" and yet, as one ponders its moral, it must be that even the most righteous of men cannot be more righteous than God; that whereas man may, in his intense nationalism, seek the destruction of other men, God is merciful and knows neither the chosen nor the gentiles but loves all mankind.

These are the final words of the Lord to Jonah . . . Thou has had pity on the gourd, for which thou has not labored, neither madest it grow, which came up in a night, and perished in a night; and should not I have pity on Nineveh, that great city, wherein are more than sixscore thousand persons that cannot discern between their right hand and their left hand, and also much cattle?"

It is this message of total mercy that is read each year on the Day of Atonement which comes at the end of a period of Holy Days presently being celebrated among the Jews. In the era of narrow and even ugly nationalism, the Book of Jonah tells us that destructive revenge is not the answer to the challenges of brutality and meanness in international relations, but that in the end it is mercy that must triumph.

Jonah was fiercely nationalistic and he hated Nineveh, a wicked city. He wanted that city destroyed without mercy, as much because in it lived an alien people as that it was not his city.

We live in troubled times when war and preparation for war fill the air with a horrible stench and unpleasant noises. And the peoples of all countries are concerned. Young men, in college, say to the young women of their generation that they cannot decide what they are to do with their lives until they know what disposition is to be made concerning their military service. And famed leaders use the radio and television to hurl imprecations one upon the other as though name-calling and hatred can solve great human problems. It is an era of small men and small minds who have substituted the emotion of hate for the art of thinking and imprecation for reason.

It is precisely at such a moment as the Day of Atonement that one halts and wonders whether so much evil could befall the world at one given period by accident or whether there is some force, more powerful than ourselves, that reminds us that evil must be punished and that the sinner must atone for his sins. Is all life an accident or a scheme of things?

In the Hebrew prayer-book, there is a passage of public confession which all are called upon to read out loud. In the older orthodox ways, these prayers of public confession and atonement were shouted and the individual bent his breast. Of course, in the more modern dispensations, it is all orderly and quiet and no tears are shed, for who is, these days, to admit that he has sinned or who is to blame himself, and not another, and not circumstances or his environment, for what he has done or for the fate that has befallen him?

And so we go our merry way from one error to another and no voice is raised to halt those who have taken a delightful world to live in and turned it into a shambles to satisfy their pride and their hatred. The Day of Atonement comes each year to the Jews as Christmas comes to the Christians and Ramadan to Islam. These days can be as any other or they can move the soul as a mighty glacier moves mountains. Men search for honors and dignities and when they have collected great honors and great dignities and stand before other men as mighty figures, they still have to live with themselves and gaze upon their own countenances and listen to their own still voices in the deep night when sleep does not come and one wonders truly why his Maker permits him to live and of what worth his life may be.

It is then that one might read the Book of Jonah and discover how very small the man without mercy can be.

Talking From A Hole

Legal Means Of Resisting The Supreme Court

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Attorney General Rogers is an able and conscientious man, and he has just made a good speech on why he thinks citizens should obey court decrees. But, unfortunately, he told only a part of the story when, in his address before the National Citizenship Conference here, he said:

"Of course, persons who disagree with decisions of the Supreme Court interpreting constitutional rights are free to seek change by the orderly process of Constitutional Amendment."

Mr. Rogers did not mention any other means of securing a reversal of a court decision or of mitigating its effects. But there are many other lawful ways open to the citizen who disagrees with the Supreme Court's "interpretations" of the Constitution. Here are some of them which do not require advocacy of any Amendment to the Constitution:

1. A citizen may petition his Senator or Representative to vote for legislation that will, as the Constitution provides, limit the powers and jurisdiction of the Supreme Court in certain types of cases. Such laws have been passed before by Congress.

2. A citizen may petition members of Congress to bring about the removal of justices who have not lived up to their oaths.

3. A citizen may join with other citizens in petitioning the members of his political party to nominate for the Presidency a man who will pledge himself, if elected, to appoint justices to the Supreme Court who have had judicial experience of at least five years. Most of the members of the present Supreme Court have never before sat on the bench of a federal or high state court.

4. A citizen may petition his State Legislature to enact laws that will avoid the consequences of a Supreme Court decision. It is unlawful to evade income taxes but lawful to avoid them. One can refrain, for instance, from making certain expenditures in one year and postpone them till another year when the individual or corporation income might be smaller or subject to a lower tax rate. It is not a "defiance" of the law to use proper methods of avoiding its penalties.

5. A citizen may bring a suit that tests a new point which was not specifically decided before. It is not unlawful to bring test cases. It is done right along by labor unions and by corporations, and they are not accused of "flouting" the law just because they seek to determine its true scope in differing circumstances. Virginia and Arkansas are considering new ways to keep segregation through the leasing of school buildings to private corporations.

Abraham Lincoln's doctrine called for individual obedience to any decree, and he deplored any defiance, but he said with respect to the Dred Scott Decision of 100 years ago by the Supreme Court of the United States involving slavery:

"We know the court that made it has often overruled its own decisions, and we shall do what we can to have it to overrule this. We offer no resistance to it."

There are, therefore, legal ways of trying to get a reversal, and these do not necessarily require advocacy or adoption of a Constitutional Amendment.

On the same day that Attorney General Rogers was making his speech at Washington, Senator John W. Bricker of Ohio, an eminent lawyer who was formerly Attorney General and then Governor of his state, made a speech about the Supreme Court before a meeting in Cleveland of the Sons of the American Revolution. He decried any attempts to "punish" the court, but he said "a number of reputable, qualified, and impartial Constitutional lawyers have spoken out vigorously against usurpation of power by the Supreme Court." He mentioned especially the vote of the Chief Justices of 36 states who, in a formal report, recently criticized the present supreme court of the United States for having legislated rather than merely interpreted the laws and the constitution.

"My remedy for judicial legislation," said Senator Bricker, "is slow and prosaic but it conforms to the letter and the spirit of our Constitution. The remedy is simply that the President and the Senate exercise far greater care in the future than they have in the past in nominating and confirming men for the highest tribunal. It is not enough merely to be satisfied that a prospective justice has nothing derogatory in his record. The President and the Senate must be sure beyond all reasonable doubt that he has the intellectual honesty and the moral courage to subordinate his personal convictions to the written Constitution and not, in the words of Oma, to 'shatter it to bits—and then re-mould it nearer to the heart's desire.'"

This came from a man who wasn't discussing the segregation cases at all but the many other usurpations of state rights. He quoted with approval the comment of Judge Learned Hand, retired, of New York, one of the ablest judges ever to sit on the federal bench, who described the Supreme Court decisions in recent years as an attempt to create in America "a third legislative chamber."

The Strange Psychology Of Medical Quackery

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Testimonials are used by many quacks and patent medicine manufacturers to prove the value of their product. They usually are worthless and often are fraudulent. On the other hand, a letter of this type may be written in good faith by a person who recovers from a disease through his natural powers of resistance. He does not realize that the medicine he took had nothing to do with his getting well.

Those who died, though they took the same drug, cannot follow suit. Therein lies the basic fault of the testimonial: the favorable results are publicized and the unfavorable lie silent. This type of promotion material sounds wonderful because it implies that the product is a cure-all—"If Hoodwink's Sarsaparilla cured that lady, it may cure me."

Faith cures follow a long established idea in psychology: "Convince the patient she is well, and she is well." This works particularly well with stimulants. The quack does not lose sleep because of his way of doing business, because he figures: his concoction has no adverse effect on those with nervous disorders or with a disease that cures itself. If they die—well, probably they would have died anyway.

The worst prevaricator of all is the cancer quack. For a fee, he gives his victims hope. When finally the individual realizes he has been duped and is doomed because he has wasted valuable time, the rays of false hope never will compensate for his grief and dejection.

We have received many letters concerning our fight against quacks. They are defended by a few. Others ask, "Where can a person turn when the physician gives up?" He is not giving up—just telling the truth.

Medicines that relieve pain are in order, even though the outcome is hopeless. But it is hopeless with the quacks also. If the crook or the meanest of all quacks were to come up with a cancer cure, everyone—including the best physicians—would be at his doorstep asking for the remedy. After all, many physicians die of cancer.

TOMORROW: Rabbit fever (tuberculosis).

NONSPECIFIC SYMPTOMS
L. D. writes: Do any specific signs point to tuberculosis?

REPLY
Not specifically. Cough, unexplained weight loss, fever, and bloody sputum are likely to be later manifestations. So many persons have tuberculosis without symptoms, an annual chest X-ray is the best means of detecting the disease early.

MISBEHAVING TICKER
D. L. writes: What makes a person imagine he has heart disease or some other ailment when a physical examination shows nothing wrong?

REPLY
Because he develops symptoms of heart disease—palpitation, shortness of breath, and chest pain. In this respect he is not imagining anything but is finding it difficult to accept the reasons why the nervous system plays these tricks on the heart. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on functional heart disease.

OVERWHELMING ILLNESS

Mrs. P. writes: My infant grandson died of status lymphaticus. I never heard of this disease. Will you please write about it?

REPLY
Status lymphaticus is thought to result from enlargement of certain glands in the center of the chest. Most deaths from this malady usually are caused by an overwhelming infection.

A LENS NEEDED

K. W. writes: After a cataract operation, can a person see out of that eye without glasses?

REPLY
Not as a rule because glasses are required to replace the lens that was extracted.

TV FOR BABIES

Mrs. L. writes: Are an infant's eyes harmed by watching television a short time every day?

REPLY
No, but I doubt if the baby will appreciate anything he sees.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

From Vacation With A Small Boy, Back To The World's Problems

By Drew Pearson

(Drew Pearson's column, on return from his vacation, takes the form of a letter to his grandson, Drew Arnold, in California.)

Washington, D. C.
September 20, 1958

Dear Drew,

I got up early this morning to go back to work. Roberta seemed to sense that my vacation was over. At first she looked at me hopefully, thinking I would take her for an early morning ride. But after smelling my pants and finding I had on my city clothes, she sighed and went back to sleep. She misses you. So do the rest of us.

The mother cat misses you especially. She has taken her five kittens from the house up to the barn, either because you weren't here to feed them or because she wanted to teach the kittens to catch mice.

And the bluegills you caught to put in the new fountain in front of the house also miss you and wished you were around to take them out. They had no privacy, no mud or grass to hide under. They didn't like that bright quartz we so carefully picked up in the fields and imbedded in the cement to make the fountain look pretty. They swam so fast and bumped their noses on the hard rocks so much that two of them died and I took the others out. I guess you can't put wild things in tame places.

And the oriole we lost down by the canal is still missing. I just haven't gone down to look for it. But the rowboat we painted is safely tied to a tree, while the oars are stacked beside the woodpile at the side door waiting till next summer when you can come back to use them.

We have all missed you—except the pigeons. They are cockier than ever now that there is no small boy to take shots at them and they are making more of a mess on the hay than ever. I especially miss you. You made me feel young again, made me relive the days on my grandfather's farm in Kansas when the dust oozed through our toes as we drove the cows home in the evening; when I used to tramp down the hay in the hayloft or follow the mowing machine to pick up the young rabbits left in the cut hay after the mower blade passed over them.

Vital Problems

Now that you have gone back home I have gone back to work—reporting on problems that seemed very far away when we were at the farm but which are very close and very real and very depressing to a country as intelligent as ours.

You are going back to California where the schools are opening on time. But in some parts of the south the schools are not opening at all, and the children who are not responsible for the bitterness of their elders have no place to go and not much to do.

And while these schools are closed, the schools of Russia are better than ever. Last May I traveled behind parts of the Iron Curtain and visited schools and kindergartens in Rumania as good or better than ours. They were going full blast, swarming with good-looking, healthy children.

All this is in a country where forty years ago seventy-five per cent of the people could not read and write.

Helping Communism

You will learn, when get a little older, that a lot of people preach about defeating Communism, yet aren't willing to spend the money or bury their prejudices in order to defeat Communism. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce, one of the biggest talkers about defeating Communism, also was a big talker against spending money on schools. While Governor Faubus of Arkansas called the Presbyterians Communists, his closing of the schools and the bad publicity he has given us abroad has played right into the hands of the Communists.

I know that you weren't too anxious to leave the farm to go back to school. However, you are lucky. For there are some children in Arkansas and Virginia who want very much to go to school, but can't. And remember also that in order to keep this country strong and intelligent and understanding of the problems of the world, we have to keep our schools open.

I would bet that if the children of Little Rock were given a chance to vote, privately, without any fear or propaganda pressure, they would vote to open the schools under any cost or any circumstance.

So study hard, and come back next summer when we can fish down by the pond with a bullfrog orchestra playing for us, and the faint fragrance of cows in the pasture, and no worries except whether the mud turtles are eating the bass eggs and whether it will rain on the hay we cut that morning.

Love from

Your grandfather
P. S. We are sending your swimming trunks, the Robin Hood cards, the comic books you traded at the Swap Shop, and the stub of the Santa Fe RR ticket you wanted to keep as a souvenir.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Moscow looked good. The city of onion-topped buildings would never know how good it looked to Moishe Broderson. He walked out of the railway terminal and studied it. Broderson had a lean face. He had wild black hair and dark hungry eyes. He reached for the hand of his wife, Sheina Miriam, and he came close to smiling. "We are here," he said.

It had been a long trip. Moishe Broderson was a great Yiddish poet. His eyes sang the sorrow of the ancients; his pen pinked the pompous persecutors. All of them remembered. The Germans had him on their death list before they took Lodz, in Poland. Their armored cars were still mopping up in the alleys between the big apartment houses as their young Gestapo men looked for Broderson.

They did not ask for him by name. They merely said, with some politeness: "Where is the prince of Yiddish literature?" No one knew. Some were punished for not knowing. In the world of Nazism, it is bad to know too much or too little.

Broderson was in Bialystok. He was safe in Russia. It was not his land; he was not a Communist; but there were 3,000,000 Jews in the Soviet Union and a Jew was safe. Everywhere, the plump and pretty Sheina was gratified to see that everyone knew about her husband. He was invited to take the top positions in the Yiddish Theatre.

On June 21, 1941, the Nazis attacked Russia. The next morning, the Russian commissars ordered all writers and artists eastward. Flight is terror in motion. The Russians took the Jews all the way to the Volga, and left them in Saratov.

The people were kind. The Brodersons had a nice little house and they lived in the suburbs. The Communists had no job for the Jew; but he was fed and given a roof. Sheina became nervous. She listened to the Moscow news broadcasts, and the Nazi armies were spreading like ink on a pane of glass. They darted in little bursts in several directions, but they seemed always to be chasing the Brodersons. When the Sixth German Army reached Stalingrad, the Russians ordered the Jews eastward again. This time it was Turtkul, in Uzbekistan.

Moishe got a job in the post office. His salary was $50 a month. Sheina taught piano to kindergarten students. She earned $100 a month. There were no radios. No one knew how the war was going. Sheina felt that the Nazis would chase her around the world. And catch her.

In 1944, they were ordered to the Ukraine. They were there when the war ended. Sheina had to learn to smile all over again. She couldn't believe it. She wanted to go back home to Lodz, but The Jewish Dramatic School in Moscow invited them to the capital and this was an honor.

Moscow was crowded. The Brodersons rented a stable in the outskirts and refurbished it. Moishe got an executive position with the Moscow State Jewish Theatre. Life was soft and cultural and the big central synagogue in the city was crowded with worshippers.

Three years later, in 1948, the Soviet decided to inaugurate a policy of surreptitious anti-Semitism. The bosses decided to embarrass, harass and kill Jews in such a way that it could be denied publicly. The first to be liquidated would be the most articulate—writers and artists and actors. Solomon Mikhoels, founder of the Jewish State Theatre, was shot to death from a speeding car.

The police conducted investigations, but could not find a clue. Others were shot, or accidentally run down by automobiles. The seven Jewish Theatres were ordered closed. So were the Yiddish newspapers and the book publishing house. The synagogue remained open. Secret police watched who entered; who left. Soon, only the very old were brave enough to embrace God.

Moishe Broderson was arrested. No one ever told him why. "Tell me," and NKVD man said, "why do you write about old prophets with beards?" Broderson shrugged. "Marx and Lenin had beards," he said. For this he drew a 10-year sentence in a slave labor camp. He served 5½. When he arrived, the guards told him not to feel bad; there were 36,000,000 people in Russian labor camps.

Sheina waited. The fascists had finally caught up with her. They wore different uniforms and spoke a different language, but the goal was the same. Yesterday she sat in a house in Brooklyn. Her Moishe is dead. "When I hear of religious freedom in Russia," she said, "I smile a little." . . .

A chic American girl in a shining red sports convertible got caught in the whirling jam of traffic around the Arc de Triomphe in Paris one afternoon. Around and around she went, unable to extricate herself and proceeded on her journey down the Champs Elysees. Furthermore, a smiling gendarme, who saluted her each time she circled past him, added to her exasperation.

Finally she risked life and limb by braking to a halt and tearfully demanding of the gendarme, "You see what's happened to me. Why don't you help me get out of this mess?" "Ah, Mademoiselle," beamed the gendarme. "You are so very beautiful I can hardly wait to see you come around again!"

Why Reds Let Their Refugees Leave

West Germany is being invaded by a peaceful army of refugees who, having tasted the dubious delights of life in a Communist state, have had enough of it and are prepared to start from the bottom in a capitalist country they are accustomed to hearing reviled as a "slave state."

Since 1949, more than two million refugees have crossed the frontier from East Germany and they are still crossing at the rate of 5,000 a week, despite frontier controls.

The reasons for this exodus are complex. In the first years the refugees understandably included a big proportion of those who could not tolerate communism and rebelled against its machine-like monotony as well as those who suffered or feared political persecution.

Now East Germany is losing scientists, philosophers, scholars and technicians in great numbers. These are serious losses for any country. But it seems that the East German government is prepared to sustain it since the dissidents go and at the same time create problems for the West German government.

Houses and jobs have to be found for these refugees. Their continued arrival keeps unemployment figures in West Germany at a high level.

This movement of refugees is not peculiar to Germany. It goes on steadily between North and South Korea and North and South Viet Nam. It is significant that all these countries were once united but have been carved in two as a result of Communist expansion.

Communist states have nothing to learn about machine gun posts, police dogs, electrified barriers and frontier zones. It can only be assumed that they have weighed the losses with the gains and that these states are ready to lose the best in their communities providing they are left with the docile and obedient.

The Strange Psychology Of Medical Quackery

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Testimonials are used by many quacks and patent medicine manufacturers to prove the value of their product. They usually are worthless and often are fraudulent. On the other hand, a letter of this type may be written in good faith by a person who recovers from a disease through his natural powers of resistance. He does not realize that the medicine he took had nothing to do with his getting well.

Those who died, though they took the same drug, cannot follow suit. Therein lies the basic fault of the testimonial: the favorable results are publicized and the unfavorable lie silent. This type of promotion material sounds wonderful because it implies that the product is a cure-all—"If Woodwink's Sarsaparilla cured that lady, it may cure me."

Faith cures follow a long established idea in psychology: "Convince the person she is well, and she is well." This works particularly well with stimulants. The quack does not lose sleep because of his way of doing business, because he figures: his concoction has no adverse effect on those with nervous disorders or with a disease that cures itself. If they die—well, probably they would have died anyway.

The worst prevaricator of all is the cancer quack. For a fee, he gives his victims hope. When finally the individual realizes he has been duped and is doomed because he has wasted valuable time, the rays of false hope never will compensate for his grief and deception.

We have received many letters concerning our fight against quacks. They are defended by a few. Others ask, "Where can a person turn when the physician gives up?" He is not giving up—just telling the truth.

Medicines that relieve pain are in order, even though the outcome is hopeless. But it is hopeless with the quacks also. If the crook or the meanest of all quacks were to come up with a cancer cure, everyone—including the best physicians—would be at his doorstep asking for the remedy. After all, many physicians die of cancer.

TOMORROW: Rabbit fever (tularemia).

NONSPECIFIC SYMPTOMS
L. D. writes: Do any specific signs point to tuberculosis?

REPLY
Not specifically. Cough, unexplained weight loss, fever, and bloody sputum are likely to be later manifestations. So many persons have tuberculosis without symptoms, an annual chest X-ray is the best means of detecting the disease early.

MISBEHAVING TICKER
D. L. writes: What makes a person imagine he has heart disease or some other ailment when a physical examination shows nothing wrong?

REPLY

Because he develops symptoms of heart disease—palpitation, shortness of breath, and chest pain. In this respect he is not imagining anything but is finding it difficult to accept the reasons why the nervous system plays these tricks on the heart. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on functional heart disease.

OVERWHELMING ILLNESS

Mrs. P. writes: My infant grandson died of status lymphaticus. I never heard of this disease. Will you please write about it?

REPLY
Status lymphaticus is thought to result from enlargement of certain glands in the center of the chest. Most deaths from this malady usually are caused by an overwhelming infection.

A LENS NEEDED
K. W. writes: After a cataract operation, can a person see out of that eye without glasses?

REPLY
Not as a rule because glasses are required to replace the lens that was extracted.

TV FOR BABIES
Mrs. L. writes: Are an infant's eyes harmed by watching television a short time every day?

REPLY
No, but I doubt if the baby will appreciate anything he sees.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be enclosed when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

From Vacation With A Small Boy, Back To The World's Problems

By Drew Pearson

(Drew Pearson's column, on return from his vacation, takes the form of a letter to his grandson, Drew Arnold, in California.)

Washington, D. C.
September 20, 1958

Dear Drew,

I got up early this morning to go back to work. Roberta seemed to sense that my vacation was over. At first she looked at me hopefully, thinking I would take her for an early morning ride. But after smelling my pants and finding I had on my city clothes, she sighed and went back to sleep. She misses you. So do the rest of us.

The mother cat misses you especially. She has taken her five kittens from the house up to the barn, either because you weren't here to feed them or because she wanted to teach the kittens to catch mice.

And the bluebirds you caught to put in the new fountain in front of the house also miss you and wished you were around to take them out. They had no privacy, no mud or grass to hide under. They didn't like that bright quartz we so carefully picked up in the fields and imbedded in the cement to make the fountain look pretty. They swam so fast and bumped their noses on the hard rocks so much that two of them died and I took the others out. I guess you can't put wild things in tame places.

And the oarlock we lost down by the canal is still missing. I just haven't gone down to look for it. But the rowboat we painted is safely tied to a tree, while the oars are stacked beside the woodpile at the side door waiting till next summer when you can come back to use them.

We have all missed you—except the pigeons. They are cockier than ever now that there is no small boy to take shots at them and they are making more of a mess on the hay than ever. I especially miss you. You made me feel young again, made me relive the days on my grandfather's farm in Kansas when the dust oozed through our toes as we drove the cows home in the evening; when I used to tramp down the hay in the hayloft or follow the mowing machine to pick up the young rabbits left in the cut hay after the mower blade passed over them.

Vital Problems

Now that you have gone back home I have gone back to work—reporting on problems that seemed very far away when we were at the farm but which are very close and very real and very depressing to a country as intelligent as ours.

You are going back to California where the schools are opening on time. But in some parts of the south the schools are not opening at all, and the children who are not responsible for the bitterness of their elders have no place to go and not much to do.

And while these schools are closed, the schools of Russia are better than ever. Last May I traveled behind parts of the Iron Curtain and visited schools and kindergartens in Rumania as good or better than ours. They were going full blast, swarming with good-looking, healthy children.

All this is in a country where forty years ago seventy-five per cent of the people could not read and write.

Helping Communism

You will learn, when get a little older, that a lot of people preach about defeating Communism, yet aren't willing to spend the money or bury their prejudices in order to defeat Communism. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce, one of the biggest talkers about defeating Communism, also was a big talker against spending money on schools. While Governor Faubus of Arkansas called the Presbyterians Communists, his closing of the schools and the bad publicity he has given us abroad has played right into the hands of the Communists.

I know that you weren't too anxious to leave the farm to go back to school. However, you are lucky. For there are some children in Arkansas and Virginia who want very much to go to school, but can't. And remember also that in order to keep this country strong and intelligent and understanding of the problems of the world, we have to keep our schools open.

I would bet that if the children of Little Rock were given a chance to vote, privately, without any fear or propaganda pressure, they would vote to open the schools under any cost or any circumstance.

So study hard, and come back next summer when we can fish down by the pond with a bullfrog orchestra playing for us, and the faint fragrance of cows in the pasture, and no worries except whether the mud turtles are eating the bass eggs and whether it will rain on the hay we cut that morning.

Love from
Your grandfather
P. S. We are sending your swimming trunks, the Robin Hood cards, the comic books you traded at the Swap Shop, and the stub of the Santa Fe RR ticket you wanted to keep as a souvenir.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Moscow looked good. The city of onion-topped buildings would never know how good it looked to Moishe Broderson. He walked out of the railway terminal and studied it. Broderson had a lean face. He had wild black hair and dark hungry eyes. He reached for the hand of his wife, Sheina Miriam, and he came close to smiling. "We are here," he said.

It had been a long trip. Moishe Broderson was a great Yiddish poet. His eyes sang the sorrow of the ancients; his pen picked the pompous persecutors. All of them remembered. The Germans had him on their death list before they took Lodz, in Poland. Their armored cars were still mopping up in the alleys between the big apartment houses as their young Gestapo men looked for Broderson.

They did not ask for him by name. They merely said, with some politeness: "Where is the prince of Yiddish literature?" No one knew. Some were punished for not knowing. In the world of Nazism, it is bad to know too much or too little.

Broderson was in Bialystok. He was safe in Russia. It was not his land; he was not a Communist; but there were 3,000,000 Jews in the Soviet Union and a Jew was safe. Everywhere, the plump and pretty Sheina was gratified to see that everyone knew about her husband. He was invited to take the top positions in the Yiddish Theatre.

On June 21, 1941, the Nazis attacked Russia. The next morning, the Russian commissars ordered all writers and artists eastward. Flight is terror in motion. The Russians took the Jews all the way to the Volga, and left them in Saratov.

The people were kind. The Brodersons had a nice little house and they lived in the suburbs. The Communists had no job for the Jew; but he was fed and given a roof. Sheina became nervous. She listened to the Moscow news broadcasts, and the Nazi armies were spreading like ink on a pane of glass. They darted in little bursts in several directions, but they seemed always to be chasing the Brodersons. When the Sixth German Army reached Stalingrad, the Russians ordered the Jews eastward again. This time it was Turkul, in Uzbekistan.

Moishe got a job in the post office. His salary was $50 a month. Sheina taught piano to kids.

Milwaukee Braves Clinch Second Straight Pennant

McMahon Is Relief Ace For Champs

Aaron Poles 30th

CINCINNATI (AP)—Milwaukee clinched its second straight National League pennant Sunday with a 6-5 victory over Cincinnati. The second-place Pittsburgh Pirates were rained out of a doubleheader at Philadelphia.

Don McMahon had to quiet a Cincinnati scoring threat before the Braves, sparked by Hank Aaron's hitting, could nail down the championship and a return date with the New York Yankees in the World Series.

The Braves now lead the Pirates by 5½ games with only four to play.

Warren Spahn won his 21st game in 32 decisions, but was chased in the seventh.

After spotting the champions six early runs on ten hits, the Redlegs roared back in the seventh with all five markers.

McMahon doled out only one hit in the last two innings, to assure the victory.

Right-hander Brooks Lawrence, who gave up the first four Brave runs in a fifth inning clump, took the loss, his 13th against eight victories.

Spahn, the ageless pitching marvel, was magnificent—for six innings. He gave up only one hit—a first inning single—and two walks holding Cincinnati under his thumb. But the lefthander fell apart in a hurry in the big seventh. Frankie Robinson perked up the Redleg attack with a lead-off homer.

Aaron, the league's fourth best hitter, inched up to .333 with a two for three performance that included a two-run double and his 30th season homer—in the seventh inning after Red Schoendienst had singled.

Sandy Koufax, first of five Dodger pitchers, gained his 11th victory against 10 losses. The Cubs loaded the bases with none out in the eighth but failed to score. The Cubs also loaded the bases with none out in the ninth but could come through with only one run.

For Superstitious Fan

Here's one for the superstitious fan. Since the turn of the century, the Pittsburgh Pirates never have finished out of the first division in any year ending with '8'. In 1908, the Bucs finished in a second-place tie; in 1918, they wound up fourth as they did in 1928. In 1938, the Pirates finished second, just missing the pennant and in 1948, the Bucs wound up fourth—the last time they've been in the first division.

Dodgers Edge Chicago, 2-1

CHICAGO (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers took over sixth place in the National League Sunday by beating the Chicago Cubs 2-1 in a Wrigley Field finale.

A switching of pinch hitters and pinch runners in the eighth inning left the Cubs without a regular catcher and forced manager Bob Scheffing to use first baseman Dale Long, a left handed thrower, behind the plate in the ninth. It was the second time this year that Long has been used as a catcher.

The two teams were scoreless until the seventh when Los Angeles scored twice on four singles.

Sandy Koufax, first of five Dodger pitchers, gained his 11th victory against 10 losses.

The Cubs loaded the bases with none out in the eighth but failed to score. The Cubs also loaded the bases with none out in the ninth but could come through with only one run.

Caseys, Hermans Voted Co-Winners

The Knights of Columbus and the Hermans were voted co-winners of the City Softball Play-off crown at a meeting conducted yesterday at City Hall by Gene Mason, City Recreation Department director.

Managers other than those of the two teams involved voted unanimously that both teams share the honors. The Old Exports won the regular season championship.

The Hermans were ahead 3-2 in the third and deciding game of the series on Friday when darkness halted hostilities in the fifth inning. Manager Mickey Clark advised Manager Jimmy Allen that the Caseys could not replace the game because he was unable to field a team this week. The league rule states that all play-off games must go seven innings and all incomplete games must be replayed.

Mason said that both teams will receive trophies.

DETROIT (UPI)—Minnie Minoso lashed a three-run homer in the first inning Sunday and it was all the Cleveland Indians needed to whip the Detroit Tigers, 3-1, and move into a third-place tie with Detroit and Boston.

Reno Bertio's error made all three runs unearned and handed Jim Bunning his 11th defeat against 13 victories. Bertio fumbled Vix Power's grounder with two out and Gary Geiger on first as a result of a walk to set up Minoso's 23rd homer of the year.

The season ended in Briggs Stadium the way it started—with a loss to Cleveland. In between, Tiger attendance fell off 173,422 from last season's 1,272,346.

Mt. Savage Pirates Annex Opener, 9-2

The Pirates defeated the Yankees by the score of 9-2 in the opening game of the best-of-three final playoff series yesterday in the Mt. Savage Little League.

Robert Robertson held the Yankees to five hits, fanned 12 and smashed a homer and single. Bill Sweeney also had a circuit clout and two singles to his credit. Jim Malloy slammed a double and single and George Shaffer blasted a triple for the losers.

Orioles Sweep Yankee Series

Pappas Racks Up
10th Victory, 3-2

BALTIMORE (AP)—New York's American league champions, still smarting from a no-hit loss to Baltimore Saturday, took it on the chin 3-2 Sunday as the Orioles swept a three-game series.

Eighteen-year-old Milt Pappas gave up nine hits as he went all the way for Baltimore, notching his 10th victory against nine defeats. Losing pitcher Tom Sturdivant, now 2-6, was lifted for Art Ditmar in the seventh.

New York fielding was almost as sloppy as the outfield, which was a quagmire from an all-day rain that didn't stop until game time.

Mickey Mantle batted in both of New York's runs in the first inning with a double down the left field line.

Baltimore scored once in the third on three errors, two of them by third baseman Bill Skovron. The Oriole run in the first also was unearned.

Eagles Win, 31-28, On Walston's Goal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Bobby Walston booted a 19-yard field goal in the final minute Sunday to cap a 24-point fourth-quarter comeback that gave the Philadelphia Eagles a 31-28 victory over the San Francisco Forty-Niners in an exhibition professional football game.

The Eagles, outplayed for three quarters, tallied three touchdowns in the final period to tie the game at 28-28 before Walston kicked the winning field goal.

The Forty-Niners went 65 yards in three plays after the field goal and gambled on a 15-yard alley-oop pass at the gun—trying for a touchdown rather than the tying three points. The ball was batted out of the hands of R. C. Owens as the game ended.

Score by periods:
San Francisco 14 7 7 0-28
Philadelphia 0 0 7 24-31

San Francisco scoring: TD—McElhenny 2 (10, pass-run from Brodie); 83, run). Pace (33, pass from Brodie), Dugan (48, pass from Tittle), PAT—Soltan 4.

Philadelphia scoring: TD—Walston (38, pass-run from Van Brocklin), Myers 2 (2, plunge; 23, pass-run from Van Brocklin), Van Brocklin (1, plunge), FG—Walston (19), PAT—Walston 4.

Redskins Lose To Bears, 27-24

WASHINGTON (UPI)—George Blanda and Willie Galimore sparked a fourth quarter rally Sunday that brought the Chicago Bears to an uphill 27-24 victory over the Washington Redskins and an unbeaten exhibition season.

Blanda provided the winning three points with an easy 10-yard field goal with only 19 seconds to play. But it was the fleet Galimore who broke the Redskins' back with a game-tying 70-yard spur off tackle midway through the final quarter.

Blanda's 40-yard field goal narrowed the gap to 24-17 and it was at this moment that Galimore fired his touchdown blast.

It was the Bears' sixth straight pre-season win and the Redskins' third loss after three consecutive victories.

Score by periods:
Washington 3 14 7 0-24
Chicago 0 7 7 13-27

Chicago scoring: TD—Casares 2 (11, pass from Brown, 5 plunge), Galimore (70, run), FG—Blanda 2 (40, 10), PAT—Blanda 3.

Washington scoring: TD—Sommer 2 (65, 85, punt returns), LeBaron (8, run), FG—Baker (45), PAT—Baker 3.

Donovan Posts 15th Over K.C.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Dick Donovan limited the Kansas City Athletics to three hits Sunday as the Chicago White Sox defeated the A's 2-1.

Donovan's record is now 15-13. The only score against him was Harry Chitt's homer in the eighth. Earl Torgeson lofted a home run over the right field fence for the Sox in the fourth inning and singled in Jim Landis with the clinching run in the eighth. Landis had hit a lead-off double and advance on an error.

Ray Herbert (8-8) absorbed the loss for the Athletics.

Bosox Retain Mike Higgins

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston Red Sox Sunday signed Mike Higgins to a one-year contract for next season.

The announcement followed by only several hours a bat-throwing incident by Ted Williams in which a woman fan, general manager Joe Cronin's housekeeper, was injured.

Cronin said Higgins signed his new contract, at undisclosed terms, immediately following Sunday's 2-0 Boston win over Washington.

Higgins has managed Boston for the past four years, finishing third last season and fourth in 1955 and 1956. The Red Sox are currently tied for third place in the American League with Detroit and Cleveland.

Milwaukee Braves Clinch Second Straight Pennant

McMahon Is Relief Ace For Champs

Spahn Bags 21st Over Cincy, 6-5; Aaron Poles 30th

CINCINNATI (AP)—Milwaukee clinched its second straight National League pennant Sunday with a 6-5 victory over Cincinnati. The second-place Pittsburgh Pirates were rained out of a doubleheader at Philadelphia.

Don McMahon had to quiet a Cincinnati scoring threat before the Braves, sparked by Hank Aaron's hitting, could nail down the championship and a return date with the New York Yankees in the World Series.

The Braves now lead the Pirates by 5½ games with only four to play.

Warren Spahn won his 21st game in 32 decisions, but was chased in the seventh.

After spotting the champions six early runs on ten hits, the Redlegs roared back in the seventh with all five markers.

McMahon doled out only one hit in the last two innings, to assure the victory.

Righthander Brooks Lawrence, who gave up the first four Brave runs in a fifth inning clump, took the loss, his 13th against eight victories.

Spahn, the ageless pitching marvel, was magnificent—for six innings. He gave up only one hit—a first inning single—and two hits holding Cincinnati under his thumb. But the lefthander fell apart in a hurry in the big seventh. Frankie Robinson perked up the Redleg attack with a lead-off homer.

Aaron, the league's fourth best hitter, inched up to .333 with a two for three performance that included a two-run double and his 30th season homer—in the seventh inning after Red Schoendienst had singled.

Chicago Cardinals Top Packers, 31-24

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The Chicago Cardinals rolled up 28 points in a free-scoring second half to down the Green Bay Packers, 31-24, Sunday in a National Football League exhibition before 18,520 fans at Metropolitan Stadium.

Trailing 24-17 in the last quarter, the Cardinals struck for two quick touchdowns and the victory.

Score by periods:
Green Bay 7 0 10 7—24
Chicago 3 0 7 21—31

Green Bay scoring: TD—Starr (6, run); Howton (24, pass from Parilli); McIlhenny (36, run); FG—Hornung (43), PAT—Hornung 3.
Chicago scoring: TD—Nagles (25, pass from Reynolds); Matson (4, plunge); Gordon (12, pass from Reynolds); Lane (53, pass interception); FG—Conrad (41), PAT—Conrad 4.

Managers other than those of the two teams involved voted unanimously that both teams share the honors. The Old Exports won the regular season championship.

The Hermans were ahead 3-2 in the third and deciding game of the series on Friday when darkness halted hostilities in the fifth inning. Manager Mickey Clark advised Manager Jimmy Allen that the Hermans could not replay the game because he was unable to field a state this week. The league rule states that all play-off games must go seven innings and all incomplete games must be replayed.

Mason said that both teams will receive trophies.

For Superstitious Fan

Here's one for the superstitious fan. Since the turn of the century, the Pittsburgh Pirates never have finished out of the first division in any year ending with '8'. In 1908, the Bucs finished in a second-place tie; in 1918, they wound up fourth as they did in 1928. In 1938, the Pirates finished second, just missing the pennant and in 1948, the Bucs wound up fourth—the last time they've been in the first division.

Dodgers Edge Chicago, 2-1

CHICAGO (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers took over sixth place in the National League Sunday by beating the Chicago Cubs 2-1 in a Wrigley Field finale.

A switching of pinch hitters and pinch runners in the eighth inning left the Cubs without a regular catcher and forced manager Bob Scheffing to use first baseman Dale Long, a left handed thrower, behind the plate in the ninth. It was the second time this year that Long has been used as a catcher.

The two teams were scoreless until the seventh when Los Angeles scored twice on four singles.

Sandy Koufax, first of five Dodger pitchers, gained his 11th victory against 10 losses.

The Cubs loaded the bases with none out in the eighth but failed to score. The Cubs also loaded the bases with none out in the ninth but could come through with only one run.

Orioles Sweep Yankee Series

Pappas Racks Up 10th Victory, 3-2

BALTIMORE (AP)—New York's American League champions, still smarting from a no-hit loss to Baltimore Saturday, took it on the chin 3-2 Sunday as the Orioles swept a three-game series.

Eighteen-year-old Milt Pappas gave up nine hits as he went all the way for Baltimore, notching his 10th victory against nine defeats. Losing pitcher Tom Sturdivant, now 2-6, was lifted for Art Ditmar in the seventh.

New York fielding was almost as sloppy as the outfield, which was a quagmire from an all-day rain that didn't stop until game time.

Mickey Mantle batted in both of New York's runs in the first inning with a double down the left field line.

Baltimore scored once in the third on three errors, two of them by third baseman Bill Skowron. The Oriole run in the first also was unearned.

Tenth Dapper Dan Purse Tops Fairgo Racing Card Today

Saturday's $290,043 Handle Is Highest Here Since 1948

$42,331 In 8th 6-Year High; Reynolds Wins To 12; Ware Wins Manley Memorial

Following the biggest betting day in ten years, everything is in readiness for the final half of the Cumberland Fair Association's 12-day race meeting which gets under way today at 2 p.m., EDT.

Highlighting the seventh day's program will be the tenth running of the Dapper Dan Purse, 7th event on the card. The second $1,000 race on Dapper Dan Day is the William V. "Bill" Keegan, named in honor of the past president of the Dapper Dans and former Cumberland Police and Fire Commissioner.

Al Abrams, national president of the Dapper Dans and sports editor of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, will be here for the tenth consecutive year to present the owner of the winner in the 7th race with an award. He will be introduced by Christ George Charuhas, president of Cumberland Chapter.

Handle 10-Year High

The current meeting's largest turnout, 7,295 persons, witnessed Saturday's card and the mutual handle of $290,043 for the eight races was a 10-year high for the local half miler. That amount was closest to the $305,856 handled on the first Saturday of the 1948 meeting and topped by 4.8 per cent the $276,496 mutual play on the first Saturday of 1957.

Bob Littleton's mutual department announced that $42,331 was bet on the 8th race and that was the most wagered on a single race here since the $40,590 in 1952.

The six-day handle was $1,200,992 and put the meet $87,548 or 7.86 per cent ahead of last year when $1,113,444 was recorded. Wagering for the first six days of the initial 12-day meeting in 1956 was $1,052,268.

Harry J. Barton, general manager of the local association, was all smiles Saturday, and stated he was hopeful that this meeting would approach the $2,500,000 mark, provided the weather was as perfect as opening week.

Reynolds Posts Triple

Favorites finished first in six of the eight races on Saturday and Lawrence Reynolds, the classy apprentice rider from Geneva, Ohio, upped his total to 12 for the meeting by posting a "triple." Top choices have topped 21 out of 48 races for a mark of 43.8 per cent.

Reynolds scored on both horses in the daily double, La Villate ($3.40) in the opener and Lolly Su ($4.40) in the second and those who held tickets on the 4-4 combination received $10. The double handle of $28,476 was short of the $28,512 and $30,724 on the two Saturday dates last year.

The Ohio rider's third win of the day was aboard Homer W. Wageley's Quatre Thell ($3.50) winner of the fifth, named in honor of C. Ferdinand Sybert, Maryland attorney general, who presented a U. S. Savings Bond to Carroll D. Lee, trainer of the winner. In this race, Pendel, with Tommy Lee up, survived a foul claim by John Sollars, aboard Be Lost, to take second money. Be Lost finished third.

Regal Pass Disqualified

Ralph Clemson's Hugo You Go, ridden by Anthony Franciotti, won the Millard Tawes, sixth on the program, following the disqualification of Regal Pass, ridden by John Cruz. The steward's upheld the claim of Franciotti that Regal Pass had bothered Hugo You Go and the other horses at the start of the stretch on the first turn around. Regal Pass, who had won earlier in the week, was dropped from first to last place as a result of the steward's ruling.

Mr. Tawes, Democratic nominee for governor, presented a purse to owner Clemson after being introduced by Thomas B. Finan. Alibu, the favorite, finished fourth. Hugo You Go paid $13 to win.

Ware Captures Manley

Mrs. Arthur White's Ware, the favorite in the $1,500 Harry A. Manley Memorial, following the scratching of Belle's Baby, whipped Noble Dream, trying for a second leg on the trophy, by 1½ lengths with Cedar Patch third. Gus Pappas piloted the victor in the 6½ furlongs test, negotiated in 1:23½.

Miss Dorothy Manley, daughter of the late general manager of the association, presented the $1,000 imported wine cooler to trainer Arthur Ridgely White Jr., of Middleburg, Va. At the presentation in the winners' circle were Lt. Col. Ervin G. Haack, nephew of the late Mr. Manley and commander of the Air Training Center, Detroit; Sue Hersberger, Grantsville, Maryland farm queen; Marlene Clark, Allegany County farm queen, and three Miss Fairgos, namely, Ann Drane, 1958; Louise Pyles, 1957, and Helen Paxton, 1956.

Mrs. Viola O. Follin's Little Sputnik, with John Sollars up, whipped Miss Diz by a neck in the second and paid $4.00 while Mrs. Roy Wheeler's Salona, a $7.40 for $2 shot, guided by Stanley Small, took the fourth number on the card. Harry P. Dorsey's Cherry Branch ($8.80), with Ernie Seaman in the pilot house, won the 8th by two lengths over Navy Brat, in the longest race of the week over one mile and five sixteenths. The time was 2:20 4/5, short of the record 2:19 3/5 set by Navy Brat on Sept. 23, 1957.

Lee Paces Trainers

Carroll D. Lee, a Virginian, moved to the fore in the trainers' race by saddling two winners on Saturday — La Villate in the opener and Quatre Thell in the fifth. He now leads with four winners. Owen L. Follin holds the runner-up spot with three.

Claim Pearl Find

TOKYO (UPI)—The Communist New China News Agency claimed Friday that two fishermen found an oyster containing 1,716 pearls off the south coast of Kwantung province. The dispatch said the fishermen presented the pearls to the local Communist Party committee.

Deposits Increase

NEW YORK (UPI)—The nation's mutual savings banks boosted their deposits by $2,080,000,000 to $33 billion in the year ended June 30, according to the National Association of Savings Banks.

Ore Output Drops In European Areas

LUXEMBOURG (UPI)—Iron ore production of the six European coal and steel community countries in August was 975,000 tons less than in July, it was announced Friday. Total output for August was 6,094,000 tons, compared with 7,069,000 the previous month. France was the biggest producer with 3,990,000 tons; West Germany was second with 1,399,000. The other members are Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

Unearths Junk

LONDON (UPI)—Charles Dawson started digging in his garden and before he was finished he had unearthed: An old gas stove, 163 beer bottles, a cister, a sewing machine, a klaxon horn, a grass cutter, 12 automobile headlamps, several basins, three 60-gallon water tanks, several umbrella frames, a bucket, a fish fryer, 14 pairs of shoes, one toy pistol, dishes, cutlery, jam jars, four large oil drums and a chair. Dawson concluded that his garden was on the site of an old city dump.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The how and when of party leave-taking is really simple when you know the rules!

Party Leave-Taking

During any party-going season, it seems proper to discuss what for many people is the hardest part of being a good guest — leave-taking.

Even many who meet people most graciously find saying goodbye without awkwardness a little beyond their social ease. Leave-taking becomes a matter of hemming and hawing, last-minute story telling or the relating of one more bit of news, often while the host, hostess or both freeze literally and figuratively on the doorstep.

In general, the right time to leave a cocktail party is about an hour and a half after arrival. An hour is considered an ample afternoon call. At a luncheon, stay one-half to three-quarters of an hour after dessert and you'll not be straining your welcome. Following a dinner party, remain two hours after coffee is served. There is only one acceptable time for making excuses for leaving a party earlier and that is on when you will leave, you won't be tempted to resort to flattering excuses.

The secret of good leave-taking is brevity and speed. If it's a large party, you say good-bye only to those nearest you and to your host and hostess.

A gracious farewell is as simple as that when you are poised and relaxed because you know how to say good-bye and when!

"Until I open a checking account, how can I mail funds safely?"
By means of Bank Money Orders, which you can get at our bank. The procedure for obtaining and using them is simplicity itself. You fill in an application form here and pay us the money you want to remit, plus a small fee; we issue a money order, payable to whomever you name, which you then mail to its destination. Avoid the risks of mailing cash: Until (or unless) you have a checking account with us and can mail your personal checks, use our Bank Money Orders. For more complete details, just come in!

Claim Pearl Find

TOKYO (UPI)—The Communist New China News Agency claimed Friday that two fishermen found an oyster containing 1,716 pearls off the south coast of Kwantung province. The dispatch said the fishermen presented the pearls to the local Communist Party committee.

Deposits Increase

NEW YORK (UPI)—The nation's mutual savings banks boosted their deposits by $2,080,000,000 to $33 billion in the year ended June 30, according to the National Association of Savings Banks.

Ore Output Drops In European Areas

LUXEMBOURG (UPI)—Iron ore production of the six European countries in August was 975,000 tons less than in July, it was announced Friday. Total output for August was 6,094,000 tons, compared with 7,069,000 the previous month. France was the biggest producer with 3,990,000 tons; West Germany was second with 1,399,000. The other members are Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands.

Uncovers Junk

LONDON (UPI)—Charles Dawson started digging in his garden and before he was finished he had unearthed: An old gas stove, 163 beer bottles, a cister, a sewing machine, a klaxon horn, a grass cutter, 12 automobile headlamps, several basins, three 60-gallon water tanks, several umbrella frames, a bucket, a fish fryer, 14 pairs of shoes, one toy pistol, dishes, cutlery, jam jars, four large oil drums and a chair. Dawson concluded that his garden was on the site of an old city dump.

About one-fifth of the three million Americans who live in mobile homes (house trailers) are service men and their families.

I AM A
FIAT
OWNER
I bought my car last October and now I have 11,000 happy miles on it. The longer I keep this car, the better I like it. I've averaged 45 miles-per-gallon on my Fiat since new and still do the same. My sister Barbara and I both use this car constantly and the repairs are nil. The only expense is the fuel and the oil never drops a pint between changes. Mechanically she's still as good-as-new! Tires barely show any wear. Paint is still perfect and it has never been garaged. My most amazing experience is the ability to go through snow and mud without chains. Both rear wheels pushing gives so much better traction. Yes... believe if I ever buy another car it will be a Fiat. And Power, you'd be surprised. My power increases with the miles I put on my Fiat. I always make better time in traffic too. The most maneuverable car I've ever driven. Parking is as free as power steering and in all respects I think the car is tops.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ (Copyright 1958: The Chicago Tribune)

Q. 1-As South you hold:
AK 10 7 4 ♠ 5 3 ♦ 10 9 7 6 ♣ 5 2

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 spade Pass 2 clubs Pass
2 spades Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three diamonds. You have sufficient values to accept partner's invitation but due to the slightly unbalanced nature of your holding it is advisable to probe for a suit contract first. If North returns to three no trump, you can relax, but if he bids three spades you will go on to four.

Q. 2-As South you hold:
AK ♠ 6 4 3 2 ♥ 5 ♦ AQ 10 3 ♣ J 10

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 spade Pass 1 no tr/p Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Four diamonds. The common sense of the situation makes it obvious that partner is employing the unusual no-trump asking for your best minor suit. You should, therefore, jump in diamonds to designate a good holding. Your distribution enhances prospects for game and partner should be offered an inducement to proceed.

Q. 3-As South you hold:
A ♠ 6 ♠ AQ 10 8 7 2 ♣ 7 ♠ AJ 10 9

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 heart 1 spade Pass Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Double. This is the approved method for reopening the bidding with a strong hand. The double is superior to a heart rebid because it offers the additional chance for finding a club fit. If partner has something in that suit, if he bids diamonds, you have a comfortable retreat available in your six card suit.

Q. 4-As South you hold:
AQ 5 ♥ AK 10 9 ♠ 3 2 ♣ K 10 7 5

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 club Pass 1 heart 1 spade Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Five clubs. North opened the bidding and jumped, and you have the equivalent of an opening bid which places your side in the slam range. A jump raise reasserts your values perfectly and will alert partner to bid six clubs if he has the necessary controls in spades and diamonds.

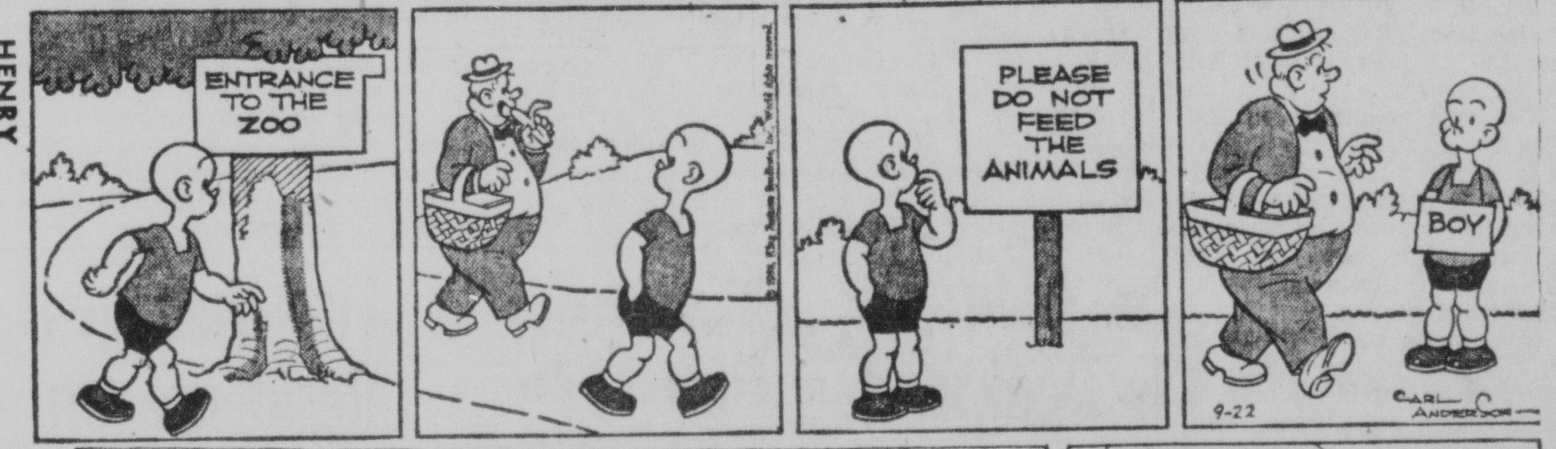

Q. 5-As South you hold:
AA 9 4 ♠ 6 3 ♦ AQ 7 ♠ AJ 8 5 3

Braddock Road Youth Injured In Freak Crash

Allan Holt Jr.
Falls From Car

A 16-year-old Braddock Road boy was injured early yesterday morning in a freak automobile accident which could have had disastrous results, state police said.

Allan Meade Holt Jr., 1108 Braddock Road, sustained a deep laceration above the right ankle, concussion, and lacerations of the scalp when he fell out of the car he was driving along Winchester Road near Cresaptown about 1:15 a. m. He was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland. Trooper J. W. McFarland reported that Holt apparently fell from his vehicle when the door flew open as the car was traveling north on State Route 53.

When Holt fell out, the unmanned vehicle swerved across the highway to smash into a ditch, causing considerable damage.

Fortunately, the officer said, the car did not strike any of a number of residences in the area and there were no other passing vehicles which might have collided with his car or hit the youth as he rolled out on the road.

Oakland Collision

Another accident investigated by Maryland police involved two cars which collided in Oakland Saturday night.

Tfc. D. A. Tucker was called to the scene at High and Eighth streets in Oakland about 8:15 p. m. Saturday.

The policeman reported Earl Clement Kight, Route 2, Oakland, was admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital there shortly after the collision. He sustained a lacerated forehead and knee, fractured right hand and possible fracture of the leg.

State police said Kight apparently was a passenger in a car operated by Harold Bittinger, 17, of Mountain Lake Park. Their car collided with a vehicle driven by Albert Lee Upole, 31, of Deer Park. Neither Upole nor Bittinger was injured in the crash.

Two Hurt In Crash

Two young Moorefield, W. Va., youths were reported "slightly improved" at Grant County Hospital, Petersburg, W. Va., where they were admitted Saturday with critical injuries suffered in a one-car accident on U. S. 220 near Moorefield.

They are Buddy Lewis Webster, 20, driver of the automobile, and Carroll Allen Turner, 15, a passenger. Attendants at the hospital said Webster had a fractured skull, lacerations and bruises and was in shock. Turner sustained a sprained ankle and lacerations and bruises of the face.

Cpl. C. G. Hamrick of the State Police said a preliminary investigation showed the Webster car ran into an embankment along the highway and then crashed into a fence and utility pole before turning over and bursting into flames.

Driver Is Rescued

A passing motorist told Cpl. Hamrick that Turner was pulling Webster from the blazing car as he arrived at the scene. Neither of the accident victims has been questioned because of their condition, the officer said.

The driver and two passengers in a vehicle involved in a three-car accident on U.S. Route 30 Saturday were treated for minor injuries at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

Treated were Wilmer Maloney, 51; his wife, Mrs. Mildred Maloney, 48, and Mrs. Oliver Ross, 72, all of Cleveland, Ohio.

Police said a car operated by Webster A. Sunberg, 36, of Omaha, Neb., was traveling west on the highway when it skidded into a vehicle driven by B. O. Donaldson, 26, of Belle Vernon, Pa., before crashing into the side of the Maloney car.

Sunberg sustained minor lacerations and abrasions, police said.

Barton Church Dedicated

St. Gabriel's Catholic Church in Barton was dedicated yesterday morning by Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, D. D., Archbishop of Baltimore, who is seen in the center of the above picture. On the left is Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Church here who was a chaplain to the Archbishop during the procession and solemn blessing. On the right is Rev. Sylvan Fondriest, OFM, Cap. assistant pastor of SS Peter and Paul parish, who also was a chaplain to the Archbishop. The solemn high dedication mass was celebrated by Rev. Linus Robinson, pastor of the church which is a mission of St. Peter's, Westernport.

St. Gabriel's Is Dedicated At Barton

Archbishop Keough
Blesses New Edifice

The solemn blessing and dedication of St. Gabriel's Catholic Church took place yesterday morning in Barton before a large gathering of parishioners and friends of the parish.

Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, D.D., Archbishop of Baltimore, dedicated the new edifice, which replaces a church destroyed by fire on October 7, 1956.

The procession and solemn blessing began at 10 a.m. Rev. Linus E. Robinson, pastor, was celebrating of the solemn high mass of dedication.

Following the mass, Archbishop Keough gave a brief talk. He spoke on the courage of the parishioners who went to work after the disastrous fire and constructed the new edifice.

Archbishop Keough also praised the generosity of organizations and friends of the parish, as well as those in the surrounding county area who made it possible for the church to be built.

The sermon at the mass was given by Rev. Michael Carney, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church of Oakland. Deacon of the mass was Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, pastor of St. Michael's parish, Frostburg; and Rev. George Pugh, assistant of St. Peter's, Westernport, sub-deacon.

Other officers of the dedication mass included: Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's, city, and Rev. Sylvan Fondriest, OFM, Cap., assistant pastor of SS. Peter and Paul, city, chaplains to the archbishop.

Rt. Rev. George L. Hopkins, chancellor of the Cathedral in Baltimore, and Rev. Charles H. Quinn, assistant of St. Peter's, Westernport, master of ceremonies. St. Gabriel's Choir, directed by Miss Catherine Arnold, organist, sang during the mass.

Members of Chief Justice General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus acted as an honor guard.

The cornerstone of the $75,000 church was laid August 25, 1957. The stone was blessed by Rev. Kilian Krings, OFM, Cap., superior of SS. Peter and Paul Monastery.

St. Gabriel's parish, which had its beginning 104 years ago, is a mission of St. Peter's Westernport. Rev. Robinson is pastor.

Area Man Issued Permit For Home

Charles W. Hacker, Route 1, Bowman's Addition, has been issued a permit by the Allegany County Assessing Department to construct a frame dwelling.

He said the home, which will measure 24 feet by 40 feet, will cost about $4,500 and will have a concrete block foundation and composition shingle roof.

Two Local Sailors Complete Training

Two local sailors recently completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

They are Richard M. Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Coleman, 613 Elwood Street, and Bernard S. Michael Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard S. Michael, of RFD 2, Bedford Road.

Teachers' Institute This Week

Some of the parochial school children of Cumberland will be given a holiday on Thursday and Friday this week when their teachers will be attending the annual Teachers' Institute of the Archdiocese of Baltimore.

The sessions will be held at Seton Hall High School in Baltimore. Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, D. D., Archbishop of Baltimore, will celebrate mass at 9:30 a. m. Friday, marking the opening of the institute.

Getting full benefit of the two-day holiday will be pupils of St. Patrick's School, SS. Peter and Paul and St. Mary's as well as Ursuline Academy.

LaSalle High School will have a holiday on Friday. Some grades of Catholic Girls Central will have to attend classes due to a testing program which will be in progress at the end of the school week.

One of the school principals said yesterday that this year emphasis will be placed on penmanship in elementary and secondary parochial schools.

Law For Hiring Teen-Agers Is Outlined

Employers who hire teen-agers this fall for full or part-time work are reminded about the child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act. At the same time, William Hargadine Jr., regional director of the U.S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour Division, pointed out that youngsters may be hired for a variety of jobs.

Boys and girls 16 years of age and older can work under the Fair Labor Standards Act in any job, such as factories, wholesale houses, communications or other industries, except those which have been declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor, Hargadine said.

Thirteen hazardous occupations have been specifically listed where minors under 18 may not be employed. These include car and truck drivers or driver's helper, elevator operator, most jobs in logging and sawmilling, and operators of certain power-driven machinery.

Although the law prohibits the employment of children under 14, the 14-year-old and the 15-year-old may be lawfully employed in office and sales work, fruit and vegetable packing sheds, and a few other jobs. Such employment is prohibited in manufacturing, mining, processing or similar jobs, the regional director observed.

It is pointed out that certain restrictions apply to the employment of youngsters in the 14-15 age groups. They may work only outside of school hours and a maximum of three hours on any school day. All work must be performed between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m.

Employers should protect themselves from violations by requiring young people to present a birth certificate or proof of age, and those under 16 and over 14 must obtain Maryland work permits.

The child labor provisions apply to employment in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce.

Fire Damages Residence On Hardman Road

Defective Wiring
Possible Cause

Two area volunteer fire companies yesterday evening checked a blaze which did considerable damage to a dwelling along Hardman Road.

Flames broke out in the attic of the home of Munzell Collins about 5:35 p. m. according to the fire chief of Baltimore Pike fire department.

He said the cause of the fire was not determined although it possibly was due to defective wiring in the attic of the four-room frame home.

No one was at home at the time the fire started. Kenneth Hill, who lives in that area, noticed the fire and had to travel about a mile to the nearest phone to report it to firemen.

When it appeared the fire would be disastrous, the Baltimore Pike volunteers radioed firemen of Bedford Road for assistance.

In order to get to the fire, the volunteers had to chop a couple of holes in the gable at one end of the building. Considerable water damage was caused, according to firemen, who said the blaze was confined to the upper portion of the house.

Some 12 volunteers of Baltimore Pike responded while 12 or 15 from Bedford Road went to the scene. The home is located along Hardman Road at the foot of Irons Mountain.

Three Runaways Surrender Here

Three youthful runaways from the Green Ridge Forestry Camp for Boys surrendered Saturday to city police at Police Headquarters here. The three, one boy from Prince Georges County, another from St. Mary's County and the third from Baltimore, were returned to the camp by Harry F. Twigg, camp counselor.

Young Woman Attacked On Romney Street

Police Are Holding
Man, 20, In Case

A 25-year-old Romney woman was attacked Saturday evening as she walked along the street at the east end of the Hampshire County seat town, state and city police there reported last night.

Authorities said Miss Lena Nazelrod, who resides about one-half mile east of Romney on U. S. Route 50, told them she was grabbed by a young man who had stopped to talk with her a few minutes earlier as she was walking into town about 8:30 p. m. (EST).

Her clothing was ripped and there were numerous scratches and bruises on her face, neck and body, state police said. She was thrown down on a huge lawn near the sidewalk by the man who apparently was frightened away by residents in the area who heard the woman's outcries during her struggle with the assailant.

Police later picked up Luther D. Wolfe, 20, of Romney at his home on the strength of a description of the assailant and other information furnished by the young woman.

Wolfe is being held in Hampshire County Jail pending completion of the investigation in the case, state police said. He may be arraigned sometime today before Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell in Romney, they added, if their investigation is complete enough to prefer charges.

Miss Nazelrod told police she was walking along the street near the eastern city limits when she met a man whom she recognized, although she did not know his name. After they talked for a few minutes, she said the man accompanied her along the street before suddenly grabbing her and throwing her to the ground on the nearby lawn.

Inch Of Rainfall Recorded During Downpour Here

More than one inch of rain drenched the city while residents slept during the early morning hours yesterday.

Robert Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, said 1.13 inches were recorded during the violent downpour that hit the city during the night.

Mr. Golden said only .81 inch of rainfall had been recorded during September prior to the hard rain early yesterday. The normal for the month is 2.75 inches, and last year 3.03 inches was measured.

Eight Private Schools Here Are Accredited

Eight non-public academic schools of Allegany County, including five in Cumberland, have received the approval of Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools.

They include Catholic Girls Central High School, LaSalle High School, St. Mary's High School, Ursuline Academy and Bre'r Rabbit Children's House, all of Cumberland.

Also included are the Hill Street School Kindergarten, Frostburg; St. Peter's High School, Westernport; and the Tri-Towns Kindergarten, Luke.

Section 25 of Article 77 of the Annotated Code of Maryland requires that all non-public schools obtain the approval of the state superintendent unless they operate under church auspices or under a state legislative charter.

The show was written and is being directed by O'Donnell and Paul Stakem Jr. with Mary Jo Simpson production assistant. Sally Maurey is accompanist. Art Shaffer will provide music.

GOP Hopefuls Use Strong Language On Opponents

Republican candidates used strong words on their Democratic opponents during the weekend, criticizing "the sickness of Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro's political morality" and calling J. Millard Tawes "the darling of the liquor industry."

U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall, running for reelection, and Robert A. Wallace, nominee for attorney general, were the Republicans who got in their licks at a Montgomery County fair in Bethesda.

At the same time, Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, Democrat, contended that Beall is a friend of the oil and gas interests.

Beall cited news reports that D'Alesandro — running for Beall's Senate seat — had ducked a conference with a group of Negro ministers who wanted to talk about a bill to outlaw segregation in Baltimore public places.

"Whether Mr. D'Alesandro approves of the bill or not," said Sen. Beall, "it would have shown a mere minimum of political morality to discuss his views with these men."

"But what did the self-styled 'strong' mayor do? According to the newspaper article, he yielded to political advisers, backed up by a professional political survey, who said that it simply wasn't expedient to discuss the matter with these constituents or to take a stand."

"Is this strength? It is not. It is political depravity." Wallace made his reference to Tawes, candidate for governor, as the "darling of the liquor industry" in remarks to a reporter.

"Bossism in the Democratic Party," he said, "is the major issue in the state campaign. A vote for Tawes is a vote for boss politics and plum tree patronage."

While Tawes was attending "Tawes Day" Saturday at a Cumberland race track, D'Alesandro was shaking hands at a Democratic corn roast in Cecil County. He said:

"Whenever Sen. Beall is faced with facts from his record proving that he accepted large campaign contributions from oil and gas and other big interest barons, and then voted to support their measures, and against the interests of ordinary and underprivileged citizens, he shouts 'socialism' or 'socialistic federal grab' or something like that."

"But he doesn't answer the fact that he has represented the big money boys in the U. S. Senate far better than he has represented the people of Maryland."

School Program Registration Begins Today

Registration for the parent-child study program conducted by the pupil personnel department of Allegany County public schools is scheduled this week in the respective schools.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, said that at each school, the registration will be conducted by the principal and the woman who will serve as the discussion leader in that school.

Mr. Higgins emphasized that there must be a minimum of 15 parent-registrants at each school and an average of 12 to justify its continuance.

Following is the registration schedule:

Mrs. Juanita Isiminger, leader — Northeast, today; Allegany, Wednesday; West Side, Thursday and Centre Street, Friday.

Mrs. Clara Mae Vogtman, leader — Hill Street, today; Eckhart, tomorrow; Beall High, Wednesday; Midland, Thursday and Parkside, Friday.

Mrs. Janette McFarland, leader — Beall Elementary, today; Valley, tomorrow; Barton, Wednesday and Central, Thursday.

Mrs. Ruby Adams, leader — Westernport Elementary, today; Cresaptown, tomorrow; Bruce High, Wednesday; McCoolle, Thursday and Luke, Friday.

Teamster Leaders To Lose Jobs In AFL-CIO Council

BALTIMORE (AP) — A strongly worded directive from National AFL-CIO President George Meany probably will cost four Maryland teamsters leaders their jobs.

The four, Paul Reynolds of Salisbury; E. R. Butler of Hagerstown; Charles Bell of Washington and Charles Stutzman of Cumberland, are vice presidents of the Maryland-D.C. AFL-CIO Council.

When the union was expelled from the AFL-CIO, Meany barred teamsters from holding office in any city or state council.

Harry Cohen, veteran teamster union leader, resigned as head of the Maryland-D. C. Council, but the other four leaders joined unions still in good standing and remained as vice presidents of the council.

Executive Secretary Charles A. Della said their resignations were received some time ago and placed on file. Meany's recent directive will force the council to act on the resignations, probably at its Oct. 24 meeting.

Della and W. F. Strong, council president, issued a joint statement Saturday saying they "regret this unfortunate situation."

"Maryland and Washington teamsters leaders and members have been a contributing factor in all of labor's endeavors and gains," they said.

Boy, 2, Found Safe After Night In Woods

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—A volunteer army of about 1,500 men organized today to seek a 2-year-old boy lost in the rain-soaked mountains, but the child was found before many of them actually got started.

Steven Wagner of Vienna, Va., vacationing with his parents in Cacapon State Park near Berkeley Springs, wandered away from the cabin last evening.

Sixteen hours later he was found, about a mile and a quarter from the cabin.

Military and police units, fire departments and just plain folks, alerted by emergency broadcasts from radio stations in Martinsburg and Berkeley Springs, W. Va., Hagerstown, Md., and Winchester, Va., converged on the 5,812-acre park area as soon as they heard the news.

Steven, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wagner of Vienna, was found at 10:15 a. m. (EDT) by Boyd Iden of Berkeley Springs.

He was taken to War Memorial Hospital here. Dr. Sam Nickles, after an examination, said Steven suffered no ill effects in spite of the fact a drenching rain fell all through the night.

"He wasn't even suffering from shock," the doctor said. The boy will be held a couple of days for observation, Dr. Nickles added.

Wagner, who is a Vienna electrical contractor, accompanied his son to the hospital. He was so overcome, witnesses said, he could make no statement.

Steven, who is just three months past two years, was unable to describe any of his experiences.

Iden said he walked away from one searching group for about a hundred feet, and there was Steven on the ground in the open. He was whimpering because of the rain and chill air.

Iden calmly told the boy: "Come on, I'll take you to your daddy." He said Steven walked into his arms and immediately stopped crying.

Among the groups which reached the park soon after 8 a. m. were National Guard units from Martinsburg and Winchester, the Air National Guard of Martinsburg, an Army unit from Fort Belvoir, Va., fire departments from all communities in the tri-state area and hundreds of individuals. Bloodhounds also had been summoned from Falls Church, Va.

One witness said "they streamed into the park area in wholesale lots, all anxious to get started."

The Wagner child left the cabin about 6 p. m. Saturday. An hour later a search was started.

A group of about 50 persons led by Park Superintendent Wilbur Long, and including park personnel, West Virginia and Maryland state troopers, Civil Air Patrol personnel, Conservation Department officials, and Berkeley Springs police spent the night in the woods without success.

This was the second child disappearance in two years in the state-owned park which is a popular resort for West Virginia vacationers. A Mason boy was lost two years ago but was found and returned to his parents.

Accident Victim 'Good'

Frank Casteel, 37, of 5 Ridgeway Terrace, was reported in "good" condition last night at Sacred Heart Hospital where he was admitted Friday after being injured in an auto accident on U. S. Route 40 just east of the city limits.

Today Is Final Day For Voters To Register

Democrats Leading
Among New Voters

This is L-Day in Allegany County — the last day on which you can register to vote in the November 4 general election.

Registrars will be on hand at the local office of the Board of Election Supervisors at the Court House, as well as in Frostburg, Mt. Savage, Lonaconing and Westernport.

The local office hours will be from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. and from 6 p. m. until 9 p. m. The hours at the four other communities will be from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m.

After tonight's final registration is recorded, the registration books will be closed until 10 days after the general election. Well over 37,000 residents will be eligible to vote in the election.

The ratio of Democrats who registered in communities in the county between August 28 and September 17 indicates that members of that party will be active in the approaching election.

Figures compiled by the office of the Election Supervisors show that over twice as many Democrats registered.

There were a total of 171 residents who registered, including 106 Democrats, 63 Republicans and two Independents. A spot check shows that during that period, 18 out of 23 persons who registered in Eckhart are Democrats and the remaining five Republicans; at North Branch eight of the 10 persons registered are Democrats; Cresaptown, 14

Braddock Road Youth Injured In Freak Crash

Allan Holt Jr. Falls From Car

A 16-year-old Braddock Road boy was injured early yesterday morning in a freak automobile accident which could have had disastrous results, state police said.

Allan Meade Holt Jr., 1108 Braddock Road, sustained a deep laceration above the right ankle, concussion, and lacerations of the scalp when he fell out of the car he was driving along Winchester Road near Cresaptown about 1:15 a. m. He was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland. Trooper J. W. McFarland reported that Holt apparently fell from his vehicle when the door flew open as the car was traveling north on State Route 53.

When Holt fell out, the unmanned vehicle swerved across the highway to smash into a ditch, causing considerable damage.

Fortunately, the officer said, the car did not strike any of a number of residences in the area and there were no other passing vehicles which might have collided with his car or hit the youth as he rolled out on the road.

Oakland Collision

Another accident investigated by Maryland police involved two cars which collided in Oakland Saturday night.

Tfc. D. A. Tucker was called to the scene at High and Eighth streets in Oakland about 8:15 p. m. Saturday.

The policeman reported Earl Clement Kight, Route 2, Oakland, was admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital there shortly after the collision. He sustained a lacerated forehead and knee, fractured right hand and possible fracture of the leg.

State police said Kight apparently was a passenger in a car operated by Harold Bittinger, 17, of Mountain Lake Park. Their car collided with a vehicle driven by Albert Lee Upole, 31, of Deer Park. Neither Upole nor Bittinger was injured in the crash.

Two Hurt In Crash

Two young Moorefield, W. Va., youths were reported "slightly improved" at Grant County Hospital, Petersburg, W. Va., where they were admitted Saturday with critical injuries suffered in a one-car accident on U. S. 220 near Moorefield.

They are Buddy Lewis Webster, 20, driver of the automobile, and Carroll Allen Turner, 15, a passenger. Attendants at the hospital said Webster had a fractured skull, lacerations and bruises and was in shock. Turner sustained a sprained ankle and lacerations and bruises of the face.

Cpl. C. G. Hamrick of the State Police said a preliminary investigation showed the Webster car ran into an embankment along the highway and then crashed into a fence and utility pole before turning over and bursting into flames.

Driver Is Rescued

A passing motorist told Cpl. Hamrick that Turner was pulling Webster from the blazing car as he arrived at the scene. Neither of the accident victims has been questioned because of their condition, the officer said.

The driver and two passengers in a vehicle involved in a three-car accident on U. S. Route 30 Saturday were treated for minor injuries at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

Treated were Wilmer Maloney, 51; his wife, Mrs. Mildred Maloney, 48, and Mrs. Oliver Ross, 72, all of Cleveland, Ohio.

Police said a car operated by Webster A. Sunberg, 36, of Omaha, Neb., was traveling west on the highway when it skidded into a vehicle driven by B. O. Donaldson, 26, of Belle Vernon, Pa., before crashing into the side of the Maloney car.

Sunberg sustained minor lacerations and abrasions, police said.

Barton Church Dedicated

St. Gabriel's Catholic Church in Barton was dedicated yesterday morning by Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, D. D., Archbishop of Baltimore, who is seen in the center of the above picture. On the left is Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Church here who was a chaplain to the Archbishop during the procession and solemn blessing. On the right is Rev. Sylvan Fondriest, OFM, Cap. assistant pastor of SS Peter and Paul parish, who also was a chaplain to the Archbishop. The solemn high dedication mass was celebrated by Rev. Linus Robinson, pastor of the church which is a mission of St. Peter's, Westernport.

St. Gabriel's Is Dedicated At Barton

Archbishop Keough Blesses New Edifice

The solemn blessing and dedication of St. Gabriel's Catholic Church took place yesterday morning in Barton before a large gathering of parishioners and friends of the parish.

Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, D.D., Archbishop of Baltimore, dedicated the new edifice, which replaces a church destroyed by fire on October 7, 1956.

The procession and solemn blessing began at 10 a. m. Rev. Linus E. Robinson, pastor, was celebrant of the solemn high mass of dedication.

Following the mass, Archbishop Keough gave a brief talk. He spoke on the courage of the parishioners who went to work after the disastrous fire and constructed the new edifice.

Archbishop Keough also praised the generosity of organizations and friends of the parish, as well as those in the surrounding county area who made it possible for the church to be built.

The sermon at the mass was given by Rev. Michael Carney, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church of Oakland. Deacon of the mass was Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, pastor of St. Michael's parish, Frostburg; and Rev. George Pugh, assistant of St. Peter's, Westernport, sub-deacon.

Other officers of the dedication mass included: Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's, city, and Rev. Sylvan Fondriest, OFM, Cap., assistant pastor of SS. Peter and Paul, city, chaplains to the archbishop.

Rt. Rev. George L. Hopkins, chancellor of the Cathedral in Baltimore, and Rev. Charles H. Quinn, assistant at St. Peter's, Westernport, master of ceremonies. St. Gabriel's Choir, directed by Miss Catherine Arnold, organist, sang during the mass.

Members of Chief Justice General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus acted as an honor guard.

The cornerstone of the $75,000 church was laid August 25, 1957. The stone was blessed by Rev. Kilian Krings, OFM, Cap., superior of SS. Peter and Paul monastery.

St. Gabriel's parish, which had its beginning 104 years ago, is a mission of St. Peter's, Westernport. Rev. Robinson is pastor.

Area Man Issued Permit For Home

Charles W. Hacker, Route 1, Bowman's Addition, has been issued a permit by the Allegany County Assessing Department to construct a frame dwelling.

He said the home, which will measure 24 feet by 40 feet, will cost about $4,500 and will have a concrete block foundation and composition shingle roof.

Two Local Sailors Complete Training

Two local sailors recently completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

They are Richard M. Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Coleman, 613 Elwood Street, and Bernard S. Michael Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard S. Michael of RFD 2, Bedford Road.

Teachers' Institute This Week

Some of the parochial school children of Cumberland will be given a holiday on Thursday and Friday this week when their teachers will be attending the annual Teachers' Institute of the Archdiocese of Baltimore.

The sessions will be held at Seton Hall High School in Baltimore. Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, D. D., Archbishop of Baltimore, will celebrate mass at 9:30 a. m. Friday, marking the opening of the institute.

Getting full benefit of the two-day holiday will be pupils of St. Patrick's School, SS. Peter and Paul and St. Mary's as well as Ursuline Academy.

LaSalle High School will have a holiday on Friday. Some grades of Catholic Girls Central will have to attend classes due to a testing program which will be in progress at the end of the school week.

One of the school principals said yesterday that this year emphasis will be placed on penmanship in elementary and secondary parochial schools.

Law For Hiring Teen-Agers Is Outlined

Employers who hire teen-agers this fall for full or part-time work are reminded about the child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act. At the same time, William Hargadine Jr., regional director of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour Division, pointed out that youngsters may be hired for a variety of jobs.

Boys and girls 16 years of age and older can work under the Fair Labor Standards Act in any job, such as factories, wholesale houses, communications or other industries, except those which have been declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor, Hargadine said.

Thirteen hazardous occupations have been specifically listed where minors under 18 may not be employed. These include car and truck drivers or driver's helper, elevator operator, most jobs in logging and sawmilling, and operators of certain power-driven machinery.

Although the law prohibits the employment of children under 14, the 14-year-old and the 15-year-old may be lawfully employed in office and sales work, fruit and vegetable packing sheds, and a few other jobs. Such employment is prohibited in manufacturing, mining, processing or similar jobs, the regional director observed.

It is pointed out that certain restrictions apply to the employment of youngsters in the 14-15 age groups. They may work only outside of school hours and a maximum of three hours on any school day. All work must be performed between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m.

Employers should protect themselves from violations by requiring young people to present a birth certificate or proof of age, and those under 16 and over 14 must obtain Maryland work permits.

The child labor provisions apply to employment in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce.

Fire Damages Residence On Hardman Road

Defective Wiring Possible Cause

Two area volunteer fire companies yesterday evening checked a blaze which did considerable damage to a dwelling along Hardman Road.

Flames broke out in the attic of the home of Murrell Collins about 5:35 p. m. according to the fire chief of Baltimore Pike fire department.

He said the cause of the fire was not determined although it possibly was due to defective wiring in the attic of the four-room frame home.

No one was at home at the time the fire started. Kenneth Hill, who lives in that area, noticed the fire and had to travel about a mile to the nearest phone to report it to firemen.

When it appeared the fire would be disastrous, the Baltimore Pike volunteers radioed firemen of Bedford Road for assistance.

In order to get to the fire, the volunteers had to chop a couple of holes in the gable at one end of the building. Considerable water damage was caused, according to firemen, who said the blaze was confined to the upper portion of the house.

Some 12 volunteers of Baltimore Pike responded while 12 or 15 from Bedford Road went to the scene. The home is located along Hardman Road at the foot of Irons Mountain.

Three Runaways Surrender Here

Three youthful runaways from the Green Ridge Forestry Camp for Boys surrendered Saturday to city police at Police Headquarters here. The three, one boy from Prince Georges County, another from St. Mary's County and the third from Baltimore, were returned to the camp by Harry F. Twigg, camp counselor.

Young Woman Attacked On Romney Street

Police Are Holding Man, 20, In Case

A 25-year-old Romney woman was attacked Saturday evening as she walked along the street at the east end of the Hampshire County seat town, state and city police there reported last night.

Authorities said Miss Lena Nazlerod, who resides about one-half mile east of Romney on U. S. Route 50, told them she was grabbed by a young man who had stopped to talk with her a few minutes earlier as she was walking into town about 8:30 p. m. (EST).

Her clothing was ripped and there were numerous scratches and bruises on her face, neck and body, state police said. She was thrown down on a huge lawn near the sidewalk by the man who apparently was frightened away by residents in the area who heard the woman's outcries during her struggle with the assailant.

Police later picked up Luther D. Wolfe, 20, of Romney at his home on the strength of a description of the assailant and other information furnished by the young woman.

Wolfe is being held in Hampshire County Jail pending completion of the investigation in the case, state police said. He may be arraigned sometime today before Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell in Romney, they added, if their investigation is complete enough to prefer charges.

Miss Nazlerod told police she was walking along the street near the eastern city limits when she met a man whom she recognized, although she did not know his name. After they talked for a few minutes, she said the man accompanied her along the street before suddenly grabbing her and throwing her to the ground on the nearby lawn.

Inch Of Rainfall Recorded During Downpour Here

More than one inch of rain drenched the city while residents slept during the early morning hours yesterday.

Robert Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, said 1.13 inches were recorded during the violent downpour that hit the city during the night.

Mr. Golden said only .81 inch of rainfall had been recorded during September prior to the hard rain early yesterday. The normal for the month is 2.75 inches, and last year 3.03 inches was measured.

Eight Private Schools Here Are Accredited

Eight non-public academic schools of Allegany County, including five in Cumberland, have received the approval of Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools.

They include Catholic Girls Central High School, LaSalle High School, St. Mary's High School, Ursuline Academy and Bre'r Rabbit Children's House, all of Cumberland.

Also included are the Hill Street School Kindergarten, Frostburg; St. Peter's High School, Westernport; and the Tri-Towns Kindergarten, Luke.

Section 25 of Article 77 of the Annotated Code of Maryland requires that all non-public schools obtain the approval of the state superintendent unless they operate under church auspices or under a state legislative charter.

GOP Hopefuls Use Strong Language On Opponents

Republican candidates used strong words on their Democratic opponents during the weekend, criticizing "the sickness of Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro's political morality" and calling J. Millard Tawes "the darling of the liquor industry."

U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall, running for reelection, and Robert A. Wallace, nominee for attorney general, were the Republicans who got in their licks at a Montgomery County fair in Bethesda.

At the same time, Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, Democrat, contended that Beall is a friend of the oil and gas interests.

Beall cited news reports that D'Alesandro — running for Beall's Senate seat — had ducked a conference with a group of Negro ministers who wanted to talk about a bill to outlaw segregation in Baltimore public places.

"Whether Mr. D'Alesandro approves of the bill or not," said Sen. Beall, "it would have shown a mere minimum of political morality to discuss his views with these men."

"But what did the self-styled 'strong' mayor do? According to the newspaper article, he yielded to political advisers, backed up by a professional political survey, who said that it simply wasn't expedient to discuss the matter with these constituents or to take a stand."

"Is this strength? It is not. It is political depravity."

Wallace made his reference to Tawes, candidate for governor, as the "darling of the liquor industry" in remarks to a reporter.

"Bossism in the Democratic Party," he said, "is the major issue in the state campaign. A vote for Tawes is a vote for boss politics and plum tree patronage."

While Tawes was attending "Tawes Day" Saturday at a Cumberland race track, D'Alesandro was shaking hands at a Democratic corn roast in Cecil County. He said:

"Whenever Sen. Beall is faced with facts from his record proving that he accepted large campaign contributions from oil and gas and other big interest barons, and then voted to support their measures, and against the interests of ordinary and underprivileged citizens, he shouts 'socialism' or 'socialistic federal grab' or something like that."

"But he doesn't answer the fact that he has represented the big money boys in the U. S. Senate far better than he has represented the people of Maryland."

School Program Registration Begins Today

Registration for the parent-child study program conducted by the pupil personnel department of Allegany County public schools is scheduled this week in the respective schools.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, said that at each school, the registration will be conducted by the principal and the woman who will serve as the discussion leader in that school.

Mr. Higgins emphasized that there must be a minimum of 15 parent-registrants at each school, and an average of 12 to justify its continuance.

Following is the registration schedule:

Mrs. Juanita Isiminger, leader — Northeast, today; Allegany, Wednesday; West Side, Thursday and Centre Street, Friday.

Mrs. Clara Mae Vogtman, leader — Hill Street, today; Eckhart, tomorrow; Beall High, Wednesday; Midland, Thursday and Parkside, Friday.

Mrs. Janette McFarland, leader — Beall Elementary, today; Valley, tomorrow; Barton, Wednesday and Central, Thursday.

Mrs. Ruby Adams, leader — Westernport Elementary, today; Cresaptown, tomorrow, Bruce High, Wednesday; McCoolle, Thursday and Luke, Friday.

Mrs. Katherine Kave, leader — Fort Hill, today; Penn Avenue, tomorrow; Corriganville-Ellerslie, Wednesday; Mt. Savage, Thursday and Gephart, Friday.

Mrs. Katherine Kyle, leader — Johnson Heights, today; Flintstone-Piney Plains, tomorrow; Oldtown, Wednesday; Columbia Street, Thursday and John Humbird, Friday.

Mrs. Frank Simpson, leader — LaVale, today; Mrs. Margaret Wolfe, leader—Virginia Avenue, tomorrow; Mrs. Jean Howard, leader—East Side, tomorrow.

One witness said "they streamed into the park area in wholesale lots, all anxious to get started."

The Wagner child left the cabin about 6 p. m. Saturday. An hour later a search was started.

A group of about 50 persons led by Park Superintendent Wilbur Long, and including park personnel, West Virginia and Maryland state troopers, Civil Air Patrol personnel, Conservation Department officials, and Berkeley Springs police spent the night in the woods without success.

This was the second child disappearance in two years in the state-owned park which is a popular resort for West Virginia-Virginia-Maryland-Washington vacationers. A Mason boy was lost two years ago but was found and returned to his parents.

However, the members of the GOP in Allegany County continue to hold their large margin. Of the total number of 36,844 registered as of August 1, there are 20,931 Republicans and 15,651 Democrats. In addition, there are 250 Independents. The books also list 10 Socialists.

Services Set Wednesday For Drowned Man

A requiem mass for James Harry Winner, 44, former resident, who drowned late Friday night in an artificial lake in New Jersey, will be celebrated Wednesday in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Interment will be in Sunset Memorial Park.

The body of Mr. Winner, who was a son of Mrs. Raphael Agnes (Parker) Winner, 713 Glenmore Street, was recovered Saturday by New Jersey State Police in the lake front of the Pinehaven Nursing Home, Pinewood, N. J., where he had been employed.

Authorities reported Mr. Winner told his companions he was going to swim across the lake, a distance of about 600 yards. Police said he made it across but on the way back became exhausted and drowned.

His body was not recovered until Saturday afternoon. An autopsy was ordered by the coroner at Toms River, N. J., W. David DeRoche, and a verdict of death by accidental drowning was issued.

Mr. Winner was employed at the large, seven-story nursing home since June 2.

He was born at Frostburg. His father was the late Clifton James Winner. He was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Besides his mother he is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Clement Miller, Mrs. Gertrude Miller, Mrs. Harry Morin and Mrs. Carl Doolan, all of Cumberland; three brothers, Vernon J. Winner, this city; John P. Winner, with the Army at Fort Lee, Va., and Ralph Winner, Short Gap.

The body will be at the Hafer Funeral Home.

The family will receive friends at the funeral home from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. The rosary will be recited there tomorrow at 8 p. m.

Mothers Planning Communion Event

The Christian Mothers Confraternity of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church will hold its annual communion breakfast next Sunday in the parish hall after the 7 a. m. mass at the church.

Father Bertin Roll, OFM, Cap., national director of the Archconfraternity of Christian Mothers, will be guest speaker.

Tomorrow is the deadline for reservations. Those persons who have not received a card may make a reservation by calling Mrs. Edward Dressman, PA 4-3289 or Mrs. Frank Simpson, PA 2-7606.

Rotary Club To Hear Telephone Official

The Cumberland Rotary Club will see a demonstration of microwave equipment at its weekly meeting tomorrow at noon at Central YMCA.

The talk will be presented by Harold Walters, who will demonstrate how the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company uses this equipment in its operations.
